'Beyond Wildest Expectations'...McGovern

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. George McGovern captured a massive majority of New York's 278 delegates, winning the last 1972 primary by a margin that brought him within 200 votes of a first ballot victory at next month's Democratic National Convention.

Long before most votes were tallied, McGovern told cheering supporters in a New York hotel ballroom Tuesday night that the victory seemed likely to be "beyond our wildest expectations" and added, "I'm convinced now that we will win the nomination in Miami Beach."

The results hours later bore out his optimism. Nearly complete totals early today showed McGovern had won 224 delegates and led for two more. Two were in doubt. His over-all New York total seemed likely to surpass 250 of the state's 278 delegates, well above his predicted target of 200.

Most of the 78 Republican delegates picked Tuesday support President Nixon.

The Democratic presidential primary results, a contest in which voters chose delegates without any ballot listing of presidential candidates, were a setback to Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie, who are trying to block McGovern's nomination.

Humphrey had hoped for election of many uncommitted delegates, Muskie for some of his own supporters.

But McGovern ended up winning practically all of the 237 spots for which his delegates ran.

McGovern's total assured him of at least 25 of the 30 New York delegates to be named Saturday by the state Democratic committee in proportion to the primary results.

Besides the spots won by McGovern, Rep. Shirley Chisholm captured four of the six delegates in her own congressional district. The other two were uncommitted, as were five delegates elected in the Bronx district of Rep. Herman Badillo.

McGovern went into the New York primary with 1,077.3 assured first-ballot votes, 431.7 short of the 1,509 needed to win the nomination. Besides the 30 New York delegates to be named Saturday, 42 other delegates will be chosen this weekend—27 in Arkansas, 13 in Delaware and two in Nebraska. As McGovern celebrated his 10th primary victory in 23 contests over the past 3½ months, he alluded to recent criticism from Humphrey and Muskie in noting that "because we do represent a new coalition of political forces in this country, there are some who have expressed fears about us."

"They have nothing to be alarmed about," he added. "We want harmony justice, not bitterness and special privilege."

Humphrey said in New Orleans Tuesday that McGovern is the candidate of the establishment with principal support from "the affluent suburbs, and the upper income blacks and the university group," adding that McGovern's views on welfare, defense and tax reform are so unpopular they would mean a Democratic defeat in November.

Muskie meanwhile, said he has found while seeking support to revive his candidacy that party leaders are "deeply concerned" about McGovern's views on the issues.

All three of the Democratic hopefuls were in New Orleans Tuesday to address the U.S. Conference of Mayors. Humphrey, who began his career as mayor of Minneapolis, was received enthusiastically. Muskie and McGovern got much milder welcomes.

The Minnesota senator then flew to Indianapolis, where he arrived after the Indiana Democratic State Convention gave McGovern five at-large delegates even though he hadn't entered the Indiana primary.

Humphrey told a news conference he thought that was unfair. "He wasn't in this primary," he said.

Besides the five for McGovern, the other Indiana at-large delegates were divided six for Humphrey, five for Gov. George C. Wallace, one for Muskie and two uncommitted.

Ulster Aids Schermerhorn Win

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — The people decided they simply didn't want a muscle-bound candidate," a jubilant State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn exclaimed Tuesday night following his impressive win over Orange County Legislator Anthony Barone in the GOP Primary in the 40th Senatorial District.

Schermerhorn's handsome plurality (12,527 to 8,837) proved especially pleasing to him in view of the fact that he had to beat the Orange County Republican's party's choice for the nomination. He had been denied the candidacy because he refused to reject Conservative endorsement.

The victory was also sweet for the Kingston City GOP which, with the Ulster Republican Committee backed Schermerhorn. The City Republican organization managed to bring in a 6-1 plurality for Schermerhorn, something it has been unable to do for any GOP candidate in a long time.

The Kingston vote tallied 828 for Schermerhorn and 134 for Barone.

The senator, an outspoken opponent of forced busing, abortion and gun control, polled 1,969 votes in Ulster County to Barone's 884. Schermerhorn was even successful in beating his opponent in Shawangunk, the town Barone was reportedly born and raised in.

Edward T. Feeney, Kingston GOP city chairman said he was proud of his organization's efforts in behalf of Schermerhorn and called the victory "the first step in Republican reorganization in the city." He also praised the work of individuals who got out the vote.

Barone did manage to capture a majority in one town of Ulster — the Town of Plattekill where he received 217 votes to Schermerhorn's 65. All the rest went to Schermerhorn with Esopus giving him 149 to 25; Lloyd, 62 to 38; Marlboro, 130 to 75; New Paltz, 206 to 110; Rosendale, 105 to 16 and Shawangunk, 396 to 345. Orange County gave Schermerhorn 10,302 to Barone's 7,747 and Stony Point in Rockland County gave the senator 284 to 210. Some races in Orange County were fairly close, however, with a three-vote win for the senator in Goshen, a little over 100 difference favoring Schermerhorn in Newburgh and a narrow margin in Middletown with the winner receiving 900 and Barone 847.

Related primary stories, photos on pages 2 and 3.

Schermerhorn said he plans to return to Albany "all the stronger because of the primary challenge and my voice will be much louder in the State Capitol."

Because the Schermerhorn-Barone primary was looked upon by many as a power play on the part of Orange County GOP Chairman William Doulin who supported Barone, who was himself a primary candidate for the 26th congressional district's two delegate seats to the national GOP convention, did well in the Ulster County primary Tuesday.

Doulin did not fare as well in his own Orange County and with several districts still uncounted, the race was too close for a winner to be determined.

The latest tally gave Doulin, 16,572. Rockland County Republican Chairman Dr. Carmine Frieda, 16,280 and Andrew M. Mauriello, an aide of Schermerhorn's, 16,026.

In Ulster County Doulin polled 640 votes, Frieda 568 and Mauriello, 405.

Although Schermerhorn may not have had the well wishes of the Orange Republican hierarchy, he apparently had the support of Republican officials in Ulster County and a number of them traveled to Orange County to congratulate the senator after the returns were in. Schermerhorn also had the endorsement of U.S. Senator James L. Buckley, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Sen. Jay P. Rolison.

Schermerhorn, in speaking of his plans for the future, recalled that Doulin had accused him of being negative.

Concerning that, Schermerhorn said, "God, on Mount Sinai, put together the 10 commandments of which eight were negative and they have been around for some time and I expect they will be round a lot longer than political leaders."

He said that if he is returned to Albany he will "continue to be negative when being negative casts me in the role of preserving the solvency and the liberties of the middle class taxpayer — the guy who has been paying the freight for the positive legislators."

"... Take a look at your paycheck next payday," he suggested, "not the part you take home but the part that those positive politicians are withholding from you so that they can distribute it throughout their socialistic programs and budget fat that further reduces the quality of life for the hard-working middle class taxpayer who is footing the bill."

Schermerhorn will face Democrat B. Sears Hunter in the Nov. 7 election.

About 16,000 to 17,000 enrolled Republicans were eligible to vote in Tuesday's Primary with 2,821 casting ballots — about the same small percentage that cast votes statewide.

Gilman 'Overwhelmed' by Plurality

By HUGH REYNOLDS

MIDDLETOWN — "Overwhelmed" by his solid 5,000-vote over Yale Rapkin, Benjamin A. Gilman will stay on the campaign trail, carrying his programs to the people in Rockland. Rapkin came in with the November runoff against Congressman John Dow in the new 26th Congressional district.

Gilman, an incumbent New York State Assemblyman, who chose to run for Congress this year, scored a decisive win Tuesday over Rapkin, with an unofficial total of 17,688 votes compared to 12,677 for the New City attorney.

Orange County did it for the Middletown resident where he racked up an almost 3-1 plurality, defeating Rapkin by a vote of 13,963 to 5,096. Gilman's win in Orange more than offset Rapkin's landslide victory in home county.

In Rockland, Rapkin came in with 7,164 votes in Rockland compared to 2,914 for Gilman. Ulster County was hardly a factor in the voting with Gilman carrying the towns of Plattekill, Marlboro and Shawangunk by a combined total of 811 to 417. He won Plattekill by a 198 to 80 votes, Marlboro, in extremely tight voting, by a 100 to 97 margin and Shawangunk by a 490 to 240 vote.

"We waged the primary in a positive manner," Gilman told the results became final shortly after 11 p.m. last night. "The voters of the 26th Congressional District have considered the issues, met the candidates and cast their ballots. We have set goals to progress for a better tomorrow and that is how it should be."

Gilman said the immediate goal ahead would be to foster "a welding, a harmony in the Grand Old Party," following his victory in the 26th Congressional District.

Gilman's opponent Rapkin, also has the Conservative Party nomination and is expected to run on that line. Mending of party lines could be crucial for Gilman, since, according to a spokesman, "he expects a very tough race with mer Jane Prizant. A past commander of the Orange County Veterans Organization, he is a member of the National Law Committee of primary; he's scheduled to be the keynote speaker at a convention of the Veterans of Air Force in World War II and Foreign Wars in Saratoga on Thursday. 'Maybe he can catch a little sleep after that,' a for 35 missions over Japan."

Gilman, 50, was appointed a deputy assistant attorney general in the New York State Department of Law in 1952. In 1954 he was appointed an assistant attorney general, served Rapkin, also has the Conservative Party nomination and is expected to run on that line. Mending of party lines could be crucial for Gilman, since, according to a spokesman, "he expects a very tough race with mer Jane Prizant. A past commander of the Orange County Veterans Organization, he is a member of the National Law Committee of primary; he's scheduled to be the keynote speaker at a convention of the Veterans of Air Force in World War II and Foreign Wars in Saratoga on Thursday. 'Maybe he can catch a little sleep after that,' a for 35 missions over Japan."

Nixon Tabs Abrams for Chief

(UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, who won Gen. George S. Patton's admiration as a tank commander in World War II and rose to lead all allied forces in Vietnam, has been nominated as the Army's new chief of staff.

President Nixon announced the appointment Tuesday of Abrams, 57, must be confirmed by the Senate before he succeeds Gen. William C. Westmoreland, 58, who will retire June 30.

There may be some trouble over Abrams' appointment in the Senate. Senate sources said the question of whether Abrams played a role in the recently disclosed unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam could create a "potential explosion."

Nixon waited until almost the last minute to name Abrams, apparently holding up the announcement until there was a definite break in the Communist offensive against South Vietnam. U.S. officials said they believed the break has arrived, although there may be a second round of the offensive within a week or two.

"If we're going to change commanders in Vietnam, now is a good time to do it," one official said. He said it was not known whether Abrams would leave Vietnam immediately or wait for the expected new round of attacks. Abrams is expected to be replaced by his deputy, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

Abrams, a native of Springfield, Mass., and a graduate of West Point, has held the top command in Vietnam since 1968. He succeeded Westmoreland in the job.

A gruff and rough-hewn man who smokes cigars, Abrams won a reputation in World War II as one of the best American armor commanders.

"I have one peer," 3rd Army commander George Patton said of him. "He is Abe Abrams."

The Senate begins a 17-day recess on July 1. If Abrams' nomination has not been confirmed by that date, the Army will be forced to name Westmoreland's deputy, Gen.

Bruce Palmer, as acting chief of staff.

"There would be no problem doing this," one senior Army official said. But it would be the first time in history that the Army had been temporarily without a chief of staff.

On the war front, South Vietnamese forces today abandoned an outpost on the Central Coast while to the north government marines ran into stiff resistance from North Vietnamese troops in a drive to recapture occupied territory in Quang Tri Province.

Israeli Planes Raid

By United Press International Israeli planes attacked "several villages" in southern Lebanon today and inflicted many casualties, eyewitness reports reaching Beirut said.

The Israeli raids were said to be in retaliation for a series of Arab guerrilla actions inside Israel in the past few days, including a bazooka attack on a busload of Israeli vacationers. Two persons were wounded in that attack, and two soldiers sent to investigate were hurt by a mine.

The Israeli raids came as no surprise. There was widespread speculation in Tel Aviv, and both newspapers and the official radio hinted strongly at such actions.

There still has been no Israeli reaction against the guerrilla-inspired Lod Airport massacre in which three Japanese gunmen killed 24 persons, but Israel has hinted at strikes against Arab airlines if there is a further harassment.

Witnesses in southern Lebanon said there were "many casualties" and that they were rushed to a hospital in the village of Marjayoun, but they did not have any exact figures and did not say whether the victims were Arab guerrillas who have many encampments in that part of Lebanon.

The witnesses, newsmen working in the area, said the warplanes strafed the villages of Hasbaya, Mimes and Kleir in the Arkoub area near the border with Israel.

The flareup along the Israeli-Lebanon frontier coincided with a summit meeting of three Arab leaders in the Mediterranean resort town of Mersa Matruh today to review the conflict with Israel. The leaders represent almost half the Arab world's population.

Attending the meeting were President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria and Libyan Premier Moammar Khadafy. They also invited Uganda President Idi Amin to join the conference, Cairo Radio reported.

The meeting had been delayed by one day while Khadafy underwent what political sources described as "minor surgery" in Tripoli. The three Arab countries are joined loosely in the Federation of Arab Republics which embraces 45 million persons.

Israeli Radio said earlier today it viewed the guerrilla activities along the Lebanese border with "gravity and concern."

Sickle Cell Anemia Van on County Rounds

The Sickle Cell Anemia Detection Van continues its rounds in Ulster County. Children at School No. 8 received the tests Tuesday under the direction of (L-R) Mrs. Pat Large, RN; Fanny Gray, IBM secretary; Sam Wilson, an IBM employee who is coordinating the program and Mrs. Susan Manfro, RN. More than 700 people have taken advantage of the van testing. Thursday morning the van will be at the Port Ewen School; Saturday 1 p.m. at the Franklin Street area and 5 p.m. at the Rondout Community Center, Kingston. IBM, Kingston is assisting Ulster County in providing the mobile van to accommodate those who wish to be tested for Sickle Cell Anemia, an inherited disease which principally affects black people. PHILIP J. MAGNARELLA

Magnarella 2-1 Winner in 99th District

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (UPI)—Philip J. Magnarella easily defeated Satoro Kazolias in the Democratic Primary in the new 99th Assembly District on Tuesday, winning by a better than 2-1 margin. But Kazolias will be back. He also has the Liberal Party designation and will continue his campaign.

The new 99th includes the towns of Esopus, Marlborough and Lloyd in Ulster County. Magnarella carried Ulster by a single vote, 117-116, defeating Kazolias in Esopus by 45-38, in Lloyd by 47-44 but losing Marlborough by a vote of 34-25. Democratic chairman, offered a similar assessment. "They would have come out if they could have voted for delegates," Crimi said. "The war, the economy, that's what it's all about."

The race was decided in Magnarella's home area, the Town of Poughkeepsie where he defeated Kazolias by a 515 to 256 vote. Magnarella carried the City of Poughkeepsie (where Kololias lives) by a similar margin, 261-164. His margin in Red Hook was 54 to 27. Returns were not available from the towns of Rhinebeck and Hyde Park. Overall, Magnarella defeated Kazolias 947 to 563.

Magnarella had high praise for Poughkeepsie Town Chairman James Boyer and his wife and his campaign managers, Thomas Mahar and Thomas Cruger. Magnarella had the support of the Dutchess town committeemen when he was nominated in March by a 108-8 margin. He was unanimously endorsed in the three townships in Ulster.

"I'm proud of the fact that this campaign was decided on people to more completely understand what the issues are from the State University College at Buffalo and a master's degree in education from the University of Buffalo. A former assistant dean at Dutchess County Community College, he is presently working with Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Valley under a special opportunity grant from the federal government."

Magnarella, a resident of the town of Poughkeepsie, was elected to the Wappingers School Board for a five-year term in 1970.

Justice Cooke Clings to Third Court Slot

By United Press International

The state's first woman candidate for its highest court and a Long Island jurist claimed easy victories today in the four-way Democratic race for three spots on the Court of Appeals, while an upstate judge apparently edged a Brooklyn jurist for the remaining place on the ballot.

With more than 79 per cent of the state's 12,828 districts reporting on the results of Tuesday's primary, State Supreme Court Justice Bernard S. Meyer of Cedarhurst had 390,993 votes and Manhattan Family Court Nanette Dembitz capped her insurgent drive for a spot on the November ballot with 387,905 votes.

The battle for the third Democratic nomination remained tight between Appellate Division associate justices Lawrence H. Cooke of the Third Department and M. Henry Martuscello of the Second Department.

With 2,747 districts, all upstate, still unreported, Cooke, of Monticello, led Martuscello, of Brooklyn, by slightly more than 10,000 votes, 306,949 to 296,479.

Martuscello, however, appeared to be running slightly better upstate while Cooke defeated him in the New York City, 210,233 to 182,494. One explanation was that Cooke's name was listed last on the ballot upstate but was in different places on the New York City ballot.

Meanwhile, in Ulster County, apathy was the word for the turnout of Democrats voting for candidates for Associate Judge of Court of Appeals in Tuesday's primary races.

County Democratic Chairman James McCardle expressed surprise at the low number of voters who cast their ballots in the four-way race for three positions on the November ballot. "I am very disappointed," McCardle said, adding, "There was just not enough publicity given to the campaign."

Reason for the low turnout was generally conceded to be the lack of a choice in the delegate races to the national convention. "They wouldn't come out," commented Roger Mabie, Town of Esopus Democratic Chairman. "A lot of people, when they found out they couldn't vote for delegates to the national convention, wouldn't leave their homes," Mabie continued.

County winners in the primary race for Associate Judge of Court of Appeals were Cooke, Meyer, and Dembitz of New York City.

With nine out of twenty towns reporting, and most of the votes tallied for the City of Kingston, the totals were: Cooke — 1014; Dembitz — 878; Meyer — 850; and Martuscello — 686. The figures represented slightly over ten per cent of the enrolled Democrats in the districts reporting.

Judge Dembitz, who in private life is married to attorney Alfred Berman, ran well in both upstate and the New York City area as she carried her insurgent's campaign against the three male judges who had been chosen by the Democrats at a nominating convention.

Because she gained more than 25 per cent of the votes at the designating convention, Judge Dembitz was able to enter the primary without circulating nominating petitions statewide.

The Democratic nominees will contest for three vacancies on the Court of Appeals against the Republican slate of Hugh R. Jones of Utica, president of the State Bar Association, and State Supreme Court Justices Domenick L. Gabrielli of Bath and Sol Wachtler of Kings Point.

Cooke, Gabrielli and Jones have been endorsed by the Conservative party and the liberal party has nominated Martuscello, Meyer and Wachtler.

At stake are 14-year terms on the Court of Appeals at a salary of $42,000 a year.

Although the campaign was a low-profile venture in a quiet, judicial style and there were no personality issues raised, Miss Dembitz ran by far the most active campaign. Her party-picked opponents, at least spokesmen for them, noted with some resignation that judicial ethics forced the campaign into a virtually non-political format where the fact of Judge Dembitz' sex became an important factor.

LAWRENCE H. COOKE

Thwarted by Albany's O'Connell

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—When it was all over, there was one old man standing between Sen. George McGovern and a virtually perfect showing in New York State's primary.

That man was 86-year-old Daniel P. O'Connell, the leader and self-styled "boss" of Albany County's Democrats for more than a half century.

O'Connell headed up a slate of eight uncommitted delegates in the 26th Congressional District. It was the only slate in the entire state that managed to beat a prospective delegation entered in favor of the South Dakota senator.

O'Connell, who has survived several years of sniping from various sources about perhaps losing his grip on the state's capital county voters, led his party regulars to a near 2-1 victory.

When McGovern was here last week, he did not telephone or call on O'Connell or Albany's eight-term mayor, Erastus Corning II, who is generally regarded as O'Connell's chief lieutenant.

That was a sharp departure from past Democratic presidential candidates, starting as far back as Alfred E. Smith and including Franklin D. Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey.

McGovern's forces mounted one of their most intensive campaigns in the Albany area and O'Connell did little publicly to counter their aggressive campaigning.

Clean Sweep for Mc in Ulster

KINGSTON (UPI)—Whether they were on the ballot or not, delegates committed to Sen. George McGovern at the Democratic National Convention made a clean sweep in Ulster County presidential primary voting Tuesday night.

Only county voters in the 26th Congressional District, which includes the three towns of Marlboro, Plattekill and Shawangunk, had a choice of delegates in the Democratic primary. They cast their ballots for McGovern-committed delegates by a wide margin. Two slates of delegates committed to McGovern in the (new) 25th and 27th Congressional Districts, which encompass the remainder of the county, were elected defacto on May 24, and were not even on Tuesday's presidential primary ballot.

With Rockland and Orange County Democrats in the 26th Congressional District also giving the McGovern-committed slate the nod, the South Dakota

Senator picked up all nineteen delegate seats and all seven alternates from the 25th, 26th and 27th Congressional Districts.

In the Town of Marlboro delegates and alternates committed to Sen. McGovern out-pollied two other slates — one committed to Sen. Henry Jackson and the other uncommitted — by a margin of 453 to 223. The Jackson slate received 89 votes, and the uncommitted slate 134.

Voter turnout for delegates to the Democratic National Convention was generally considered to be somewhat low with slightly over ten per cent of the enrolled Democrats in the three Ulster Townships appearing at the polls.

Meanwhile, GOP voters in the 25th, 26th and 27th Congressional Districts in Ulster County were not called on to cast ballots for delegates to the Republican National convention, as slates committed to President Nixon were previously elected defacto.

Republican Incumbents Defeated

Rochester School Board President Upsets Senator Laverne

By United Press International
State Sen. Thomas Laverne, R - Rochester, the ambitious, Senate Education Committee chairman, was surprisingly defeated in his bid for re-nomination Tuesday by Gordon DeHond, the Rochester school board president.

The upset was one of a half dozen defeats for Republican legislators, as challengers successfully attacked the incum-ber's links to Governor Rockefeller's spending policies.

Laverne's defeat probably clears the way for Sen. Warren M. Anderson, R - Binghamton, to be elected Republican leader for the 1973 session. Laverne was a possible contender in the race, and his absence could also let Anderson name a rival — such as John Caemermer, R - East Williston — as finance or education committee chairman to win support from the Long Island delegation.

DeHond blasted Laverne for state debt increases in the senator's 12 years in office. He also hit Laverne's sponsorship of the attorney-backed "no-fault" auto insurance bill last year.

Others upset in GOP primaries included Assemblymen Lawrence Corbett, R-Fort Edward; the Social Services Committee chairman; Donald Shoemaker, of Webster; V. Sumner Carroll of Niagara Falls and Richard A. Brown of Bridgeport.

In the Senate, Democrat Emanuel Gold of Queens put down challenge by Jerry Birch, head of the group opposing the Forest Hills housing project.

Assemblymen winning promotions toward the Senate included James T. McFarland, R-Kenmore, and Frederick Warder, R-Geneva.

McFarland defeated John Phelan, the counsel to retiring Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, in the 59th District, and Warder won a three-way race in the Finger Lakes district vacated by Ted Day, R-Interlaken.

Assemblymen surviving primary challenges included Ways and Means Committee Chairman Willis Stephens, R-Brewster, and Deputy Minority Leader Albert Blumenthal, D-Manhattan.

In a battle between two incumbents, Assemblyman Arthur J. Kremer, D - Long Beach, defeated Eli Wager, D-Woodmere.

The two friends were thrown into the same district by reapportionment.

In the other upsets:

—Corbett was unseated by Gerald Solomon, a Glens Falls insurance man. The Republican organization felt Corbett was neglecting some district chores in his 9th year in the seat.

—Shoemaker, an authority on horse racing matters and proponent of liberalized "Blue Laws," was beaten by Thomas

A. Hanna, a Webster businessman.

—Carroll, a white-haired courtly-appearing lawmaker lost to Conservative John B. Daly, a Niagara Falls city councilman. Daly attacked the legislative pension plan and said "It's time to put Albany on a diet."

—Brown, a four-year veteran, was narrowly beaten by Clarence Rappleyea, the Norwich city Republican chairman, in a three-way race.

woman Elizabeth Holtzman (R photo, center, watching returns on TV) in New York's Democratic primary. Celler was first elected to the House in 1922. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Celler, Bella, Lowenstein Beaten

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Emanuel Celler, 84-year-old dean of the House, and one term in Congress, lost their bids for renomination Tuesday in New York's Democratic primary election.

Democratic Committeewoman Elizabeth Holtzman, 30, upset Celler in Brooklyn's 16th Congressional District. She charged that Celler, first elected to the House in 1922 during the administration of Warren G. Harding, was out of touch with the times and his constituents.

Celler, however, will be entered as the nominee of New York's Liberal party in the November elections and thus still has a chance to survive.

Mrs. Abzug, whose floppy hats and gravelly voice became national trademarks during her term in Congress, lost to veteran Rep. William F. Ryan in a contest forced by congressional redistricting. Both are reform Democrats.

A similar contest in the Bronx brought victory for Rep. Jonathan Bingham over incumbent Rep. James Scheuer in the newly redrawn 22nd Congressional District. Both men have also been reform leaders.

However, Rep. John Rooney, a veteran organization Democrat, withstood a stiff challenge from reform leader Allard Lowenstein, a former congressman and chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, in Brooklyn's 11th District. Upstate, Assemblyman Donald J. Mitchell, Herkimer, defeated fellow Republican Assemblyman John T. Buckley.

Utica, and two other contestants in a four-way race for the GOP nomination to succeed retiring Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-Utica, in the 31st District.

Incumbent Rep. Robert C. McEwen, R-Ogdensburg, beat Emerson V. Laughland of Watertown for the GOP nod in the 30th District.

Mrs. Abzug, whose race for the new 20th Congressional District gained national publicity, asserted during her campaign that she was an "activist" who had "spent years electing men like Ryan, only to have them do nothing." Ryan, a six-term veteran, campaigned as a founding father of the reform movement, and its first representative in Congress.

In Rooney's district, Lowenstein claimed the election had been "stolen" through "irregular" voting procedures. Lowenstein ran the best organized campaign so far to unseat Rooney, first elected in 1944.

In other races, Rep. Herman Badillo won an easy victory over Manuel Ramos to remain the only congressman of Puerto Rican descent. Charles Rangel, who unseated Adam Clayton Powell in 1970, retained his seat over challenger Livingston Wingate in the newly redrawn 19th Congressional District.

Freeman Readers Write Editor

Editor, The Freeman:

Recent claims by Senator Humphrey and some of his supporters that Senator McGovern is somehow less than totally committed to the continued existence of a strong and healthy State of Israel are part of a "scare tactic" campaign aimed at driving many supporters of the State of Israel away from Senator McGovern's candidacy, and most importantly, are not supported by the facts.

Throughout his Congressional career, Senator McGovern has insisted on Israel's right to recognition and survival as a free, independent nation. In May of 1970, he was among the group of seven Senators first to urge the administration to cease withholding the Phantom jets requested by the Israeli government. Senator McGovern has repeatedly pointed out the vast difference between the corrupt regime we have backed in Saigon and the respected democratic state of Israel, which deserves our support. Senator McGovern has also vigorously condemned the anti-Semitic policies of the Soviet Union and he has called upon the Soviet leadership to allow Soviet Jews to emigrate to Israel or any other country of their choice.

Among Senator McGovern's current proposals are:

A firm commitment by the United States to survival and security of Israel;

Acceptance of the premise that no nation or group of nations, great or small, can legitimately impose an outside settlement on the Arab-Israeli conflict;

A long range, peaceful negotiated solution to the Middle East crisis as opposed to a 1957 type temporary military armistice;

Solution of the Palestinian refugee problem by world bodies in conjunction with the nations in the Middle East; Continued free access of all religious groups to their respective holy places in Jerusalem;

Continued administration of Jerusalem by Israel;

Supplies of U.S. arms support to preserve the military balance in the Middle East which has been threatened by the continued Soviet presence;

Yiddish language broadcasts of the Voice of America to the three million Jews now living in the Soviet Union;

And, public expression of America's deep concern over the Leningrad trials and other acts of persecution against Soviet Jewry.

Over many years, Senator McGovern, through his words and deeds, has repeatedly affirmed his commitment to the survival and independence of the State of Israel.

This "non-issue" should finally be laid to rest.

Out of U.N.

Editor, The Freeman:

Currently, American taxpayers are paying almost 70 percent of the entire budget for the U.N. and its related agencies. However, on May 18 the House voted to reduce U.S. payments to the U.N. and eight of its agencies in the amount of $25.1 million by a vote of 202 to 150.

Although we should be aiming for total U.S. withdrawal from the U.N., the House vote is a vital step in the right direction. Now it is up to the Senate!

What the U.N. lobbyist conveniently forgets is that the U.N. is a total failure. Since its founding in 1945, there have been more wars, revolutions, and bloodshed than during any other 27-year period in history. President Nixon even ignores the U.N. in favor of "summit" conferences. The U.N. has condemned Israel 12 times for aggression and war crimes, but the Zionist armies have not withdrawn from captured territory, and are not likely to do so. The scene in the aisles of the U.N. General Assembly following the admission of Red China and the expulsion of Nationalist China shows just what kind of circus the U.N. has become. U.N. sanctions, which have forced us to buy inferior and more expensive chromium ore from Russia, instead of from Rhodesia, have cost U.S. industry millions of dollars.

As all but the hopelessly brainwashed can plainly see, the U.N. is an expensive hoax made for one thing only: to serve as the framework for world government. It is time to measure the U.N. by its actions and its value to America, and not by the propaganda of its well-financed press agents.

Wire, write, or call your two Senators and urge them to support any legislation designed to relieve the U.S. taxpayers of this burden!

Get US out of the United Nations!

Very truly yours,
SHELDON G. MARTIN

Fallout

Editor, The Freeman:

In a public service announcement on WGHQ there were two interesting pieces of information from the Civil Defense Department. The first told the good citizens listening that their food and water would not be permanently contaminated after a nuclear bomb attack because radiation from fallout just "passes through." The second instructed us that all we had to do to protect ourselves was to brush off the fallout dust from food packages before opening them, and to drink water that came from closed containers.

I would like to ask two questions of the officials responsible for misleading us with such nonsense:

1) What happens to our hands, lungs, eyes, bloodstream, etc. when radioactive fallout is "brushed off" contaminated packages, and where does this dust go?

2) What happens to our health when all packaged food and bottled water is consumed within a matter of weeks and we are driven to drink fresh water and eat unpackaged grains, vegetables, meats, and fruits which have been contaminated by fallout particles whose radioactivity may last from ten to one thousand years?

The Japanese fishermen from the LUCKY DRAGON who were unfortunate enough to be caught under a cloud of fallout from our South Pacific bomb tests could, if they were still alive, tell us the tragic results of "brushing off" radioactive dust — a horror story far more convincing than the fairy tales being told us by U.S. Government bomb-shelter salesmen.

The only protection against fallout from a nuclear bomb is not to drop it.

Yours truly,
JANE SHERMAN

POW Appeal

Editor, The Freeman:

Many times American people have a tendency to forget quickly and we often shrug off the fact that history repeats itself. At the end of the Korean War, 389 American servicemen serving in that land were never accounted for. Eventually, they were forgotten by the American people. Very few of them have ever returned to freedom. At present in Southeast Asia 1700

Americans are either Prisoners of War or Missing in Action. These are men from all walks of life. Some are college graduates, doctors, teachers, dropouts, 18 to 20 are members of the news media. Can you and I with a CLEAR CONSCIENCE, POSSIBLY forget these men?? Ask yourself this question. Would you forget your son or husband if he were a Prisoner of War or Missing in action? Please help. Proceeds will go to publicity for these men and the National League of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action in Southeast Asia.

Anti-Israel

Editor, The Freeman:

It is important for all of us who want to see a strong and viable Israel to consider carefully whether Senator George McGovern is the man best suited to achieve that purpose.

Some facts:

1. Early in 1971, Senator McGovern called upon Israel to give up all but insubstantial portions of the Arab territory it occupied in the 1967 war.

2. McGovern has spoken of the possibility of "internationalizing" Jerusalem, a proposal flatly rejected by Israel.

3. He supported the sale of jet planes to Israel only on condition that the Israelis do not use them over Arab territory; this qualification would have made it impossible for the Israelis to destroy the Egyptian Air Force on the ground during the 1967 war.

4. Several months ago, McGovern voted against the $300,000,000 aid bill to Israel, ostensibly because it was tied to a larger bill providing aid for Greece and Taiwan.

Let us ask ourselves whether Senator McGovern and the delegates pledged to support his candidacy are really committed to the survival of the Jewish state — or to the undermining of it.

Very truly yours,
BERNARD BRAGINSKY

Burns Residency

Editor, The Freeman:

I wonder if anyone in this area is aware that the Democrat who has been nominated to oppose Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., in the coming election lists his legal address on his nominating petitions as 94 MacDougal Street, New York City?

Yet, at the same time, in his press announcements he has stated he is a Putnam County resident. Now, in the Democratic candidate's opinion, we, in the Hudson Valley, may not be very bright, but I think most of us know New York's East Village is not in Putnam County.

When "Old Honest John Burns" the Democratic candidate calls for candor, perhaps he could candidly tell us how he feels his East Village background peculiarly fits him to represent us, and maybe to honestly state why he was "fired" as an Assistant U.S. Attorney.

THE GOSSIP COLUMN by ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Q: Well, we've had practically every offbeat thing in the wide world publicized and brought to light these days — homosexuality, Women's Lib, transsexualism, transvestitism, group sex, celebrities for vasectomy, abortion on demand, you name it. What will be the next unspeakable thing to be spoken of? — W.H., New Orleans.

A: Impotence — to give you a quick answer. A man named Sam July is determined now to bring this problem out in the open. He won't use anyone's name, but Sam is determined to find out as much as possible about the secondary (it comes and it goes) variety of impotence. Sam, who is that way himself, wants to contact men who have the same problem, and also their wives and lovers. He can be reached at 257 Second Avenue, New York City. If Sam answers, don't hang up — his investigation is on the level. Recently a former Time editor, John Koffend, wrote a book called "Letter to My Wife" dwelling on the subject.

Q: Whom do those famous food experts cook for when they're at home in the kitchen? I'm thinking of Julia Childs, Adelle Davis, Craig Claiborne, and James Beard? — P.D., Union Springs, Ala.

A: Adelle and Julia are both married to husbands who concentrate on their wives' careers. Adelle's husband, Frank Steiginger, used to be a CPA, but quit because he didn't like the work and liked Adelle's cooking more. Julia's husband, Paul, was a CIA officer. Now retired, he is the one who interested Julia in cooking because he was a passionate gourmet. Claiborne and Beard are bachelors and both cook incessantly for friends, Lucky friends.

Q: I know Yoko Ono and John Lennon have tried to get custody of her little girl, but you never hear anything about John's son, Julian. Does Lennon see much of him? — G.L., Wilmington, N.C.

A: The boy, who is 9 now, lives in England with Lennon's ex-wife, Cynthia. Since John has been in the United States so much lately, he hasn't seen the child. In the early days of his marriage to Yoko, the petite second Mrs. Lennon was extremely jealous of Julian. Once when John went to visit Cynthia and his son, Yoko called and made such a scene Lennon had to leave. Yoko may be more reasonable now, but she is still a mighty possessive woman and rarely lets John out of her sight. He loves it!

Q: I'd think that after a girl like Cybill Shepherd becomes a movie star in "The Last Picture Show," she wouldn't go on taking the bread out of the mouths of other models who need the TV work. — H.W., Kansas City, Mo.

A: Cybill agrees with you. The young blonde who caught director Peter Bogdanovich's eye in both his film and private life, doesn't want to go on modeling even if it does bring in $150,000 a year. Bogdanovich, her Svengali, thinks it's beneath Cybill to model now that she is a movie star. But the advertising agency handling Cover Girl makeup hardly agrees. After Cybill refused to show for a modeling session, keeping a hairdresser, make up man, costume person and full film crew waiting out in Los Angeles, the agency legally insisted Cybill fulfill the contract. The only concession made was to put her name on the TV spots, which makes her officially an "actress" instead of just a "model."

Q: You gave us the news about the Liza Minnelli-Desi Arnaz Jr. romance, but do you know when the wedding will take place and what does Mama, Lucille Ball, have to say about it? — E.T., Moline, Ill.

A: Listen, don't hold us to the date: Hollywood love affairs have a way of disintegrating overnight. However, young Desi says he and Liza hope to be married within the next six months. Of course, Liza has to get her divorce from singer Peter Allen first. Lucille Ball is delighted and says "my husband (Gary Morton) and I know they are going to be great for one another. I love Liza."

Q: I once heard that Richard Burton has the bleeders disease, hemophilia. My husband has it, that's why I'm curious. — L. F., Bristol, R.I.

A: The actor has been active in raising money for hemophilia research, but we believe his connection with the disease is a flight of his imagination. At a press conference once where Burton was trying to raise money for his mentor, Philip Burton (no relation), Richard said he himself was a "bleeder." This caused untold problems for the actor later when insurance companies refused him policies based on his loosely spoken words. Richard is probably more dramatic than hemophilic.

Lennon and son: A good firm name.

Shepherd: No navel maneuvering.

Liza and Desi: Ante bussing.

Hoffa on Prisons

James R. Hoffa, an expert on prison life because he spent 58 months in the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Prison, told a Senate subcommittee what life was like in jail. His 13-year sentence was commuted by President Nixon last December 23 and he has been lecturing on prison reform since.

The former president of the Teamsters Union testified that prison factory workers were paid an average of 17 cents an hour, with a maximum of 32 cents, and should be paid "union wages;" medical care was inadequate and "I've watched people die because they were not given medical treatment"; clothing fit badly and even shoes were often the wrong size; library facilities were bad and the library was closed on weekends, when convicts were idle; also the prison factory was unsafe, leading to losses of hands and feet.

At one point, Hoffa refused a transfer to the medium-security prison farm because of its "smelly, dirty rooms and the communal living of its hippies and homos." He added that there were 450 homosexuals out of a prison population of 1,800.

Hoffa urged 26 reforms in prison operation, with training inmates for available jobs on the outside as a key proposal. He said many ex-convicts revert to a life of crime because they have not received job training that would assist them in obtaining employment in the outside world. He named license plate and mop bucket manufacturing as two examples of prison vocations that bear little resemblance to potential jobs in private industry.

Hoffa is doing much good as a result of his plan for prison reform. He knows that most convicts come out bitter, more disturbed, more anti-social and more skilled in crime than when they went in. He is asking for reform.

The Ban on DDT

After almost three years of legal and administrative proceedings, the Environmental Protection Agency ban of the use of the pesticide DDT, except for limited public health uses, was a victory for general health. For chemicals of the pesticide lodge in the food chain of men, animals, birds and fish.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of EPA, said that the likely substitute for agricultural uses will be metholparathion. Although like DDT, it is highly toxic, this chemical breaks down into harmless components much more quickly and therefore is not regarded as harmful to humans or animals in the long run.

The ruling does not ban the export of DDT, which may be shipped to developing nations and others who care to use it. They have been wanting it to boost their agricultural production, as it has ours, but it is no less safe for them and foods on which it has been used will find a way into world travelers' menus.

Ruckelshaus has scored twice in a row for environmentalists. In mid-May, he denied the request of the nation's auto makers for a year's extension in the regulation for auto-emission control ruling that there is technological knowledge to achieve controls by 1975 as ordered.

However, Ruckelshaus ruled, over the objection of environmentalists, to allow a pipeline to be built across Alaska to take oil from the northern slope to the southern ports. Here, he did not see any danger of ecological disaster, recalling the ruling for the deep nuclear tests in the Amchitka peninsula and the objections which did not materialize. Pollution control is at its beginning. Environmentalists cannot win them all. Ruckelshaus and his associates are calling them as they see them.

DIAL-A-RIDE SERVICE — Elderly and disabled people, virtual prisoners because they are infirm or afraid to use public transportation, have inaugurated a dial-a-ride service which gives taxi rides within a four-square mile area at 75 cents for an individual or 50 cents each for a group of three or more. The experiment in The Bronx is made possible by a grant of $250,000. If successful, and it's a great idea, it would be extended throughout the rest of the big city.

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department went ahead with the prosecution of Father Philip Berrigan and his friends with full knowledge that the evidence was insufficient to get a conviction. Father Berrigan, Sister Elizabeth McAlister, both, militant Catholics, and five others were accused of conspiring to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and to blow up steam tunnels in Washington. They were found innocent of these charges after a long, costly trial. We have now obtained documents from FBI files casting doubt on the validity of the government's case. Apparently, the Justice Department's objective was to get the "Harrisburg Seven" into court and take a chance the jury might convict them because of prejudice if not evidence. But the jury refused to convict them of the conspiracy counts thus proving that even the most unpopular radicals can still get a fair trial in America. The Justice Department's strategy, meanwhile, completely backfired. Instead of suppressing the political radicals, the trial gave them a national forum and made heroes of them. The trial also cost the taxpayers a bale of money. Political Folly in retrospect, some high government officials believe the Justice Department not only wasted the taxpayers' money but committed political folly. For the trial accomplished nothing except to publicize the radical movement.

The first word of a plot to destroy government property and disrupt Washington came to the FBI on June 19, 1970, for "a confidential source of unknown reliability."

This dubious source "advised he had received a telephone call from Neil McLaughlin, a Catholic priest from Baltimore, Md. (one of the seven defendants at the Harrisburg, Pa., trial), who indicated he and others were going ahead with plans for the 'big action' in Washington, D.C."

"He advised this apparently related to the proposed destruction of the underground electrical network supplying power to government buildings in Washington, D.C., and/or destruction of computers at the Pentagon."

Our sources say the FBI's uncertain informant was Boyd Douglas, who later said the Catholic plot against Washington would be directed at steam lines. He also produced the famous "kidnap letters," discussing the alleged plot to make off with Henry Kissinger.

Letter to Kissinger
On September 4, 1970, the late J. Edgar Hoover sent a letter, stamped "Secret," to Kissinger informing the presidential adviser he had been "mentioned as a possible (kidnap) victim." By this time the FBI regarded Douglas as a "sensitive" source "who has furnished reliable information in the past."

The Secret Service, which is responsible for protecting the people at the White House, was also notified. But the Secret Service was unimpressed.

"The plans to destroy steam lines in Wash., DC, has been investigated by the FBI and this Service," concluded a secret memo. "No information has been developed to confirm that plot."

Yet the Justice Department went ahead with a grand jury investigation and indictments.

Footnote: The documents we dug out of the FBI files, according to former Attorney General Ramsey Clark, defense attorney for the "Harrisburg Seven," tend to confirm what I saw during the trial. He also told my associate Joe Spear that the government failed to disclose these damning documents. We could get no comment from the Justice Department nor the FBI, "since this matter is still in litigation. In fact, the department has decided to drop the case."

Washington Whirl
Sleeper Play — Accident lawyers, fearful that no-fault insurance will cut their billion-dollar take from auto catastrophes, are trying to pull a sleeper play in the Senate. The Senate Commerce Committee, spurred by chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., reported to the Senate a tough no-fault bill that would save auto owners millions. But some state bar associations are urging Sen. Jim Eastland, D-Miss., to start a jurisdictional squabble on the Senate floor. The trial lawyers want Eastland to have the bill sent back "for further study" to his Judiciary Committee, the graveyard of so many consumer bills in the past.

Soft on Drugs — The Food and Drug Administration is often accused of being too soft on the pharmaceutical industry it regulates. Yet the National Ethical Pharmaceutical Association, representing 100 small drug firms would like the FDA to be even softer. The drug firms are trying to bring pressure through their congressmen to get the FDA to weaken its regulations. The drug makers want the FDA to allow them to include some ingredients in drugs even if there's no proof they are effective. The drug companies also would like to shift the burden of proving other drugs are safe from the producers to the FDA.

David Lawrence Says

Peace Initiative

WASHINGTON — As had been anticipated here for several days, the machinery for making peace in Vietnam is at last slowly but surely getting started.

These are some of the significant incidents in the process:

1. Le Duc Tho, who is the chief adviser to North Vietnam's delegation at the Paris Peace Talks, returned to Hanoi last Sunday after talks in Peking with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai. When Le Duc Tho arrived back home in Hanoi, he was greeted by Xuan Thuy, the North Vietnamese chief delegate at the Paris Peace Conference.

2. This visit occurred only two days before the arrival in Peking of Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser, who is holding discussions with the Chinese leaders.

3. The meeting of Le Duc Tho with Premier Chou En-lai came about at the same time that the President of the Soviet Union, Nikolai Podgorny, was conferring with North Vietnam's rulers.

Thus, the trips by North Vietnamese, Russian and American representatives logically lead to the belief that a new initiative will cause the resumption of the Paris Peace Talks, which had been suspended on May 4.

After all this had happened, Soviet President Podgorny, returning to Moscow following his exchanges with the leaders of North Vietnam in Hanoi, predicted that the peace talks on Vietnam would resume in Paris soon. It is generally assumed that Russia, in the wake of the summit with President Nixon, has launched a peace initiative in Vietnam.

President Podgorny told newsmen at Calcutta Airport where his plane landed for a refueling stop:

"I am very satisfied with my talks in Hanoi. Everything went on as we desired . . . we shall have to do everything for a de-escalation of the war in Vietnam."

So with Presidential Adviser Kissinger going to Peking to discuss the Vietnam War and other issues with the Chinese Premier, and with Le Duc Tho, chief adviser to North Vietnam's delegation flying to Hanoi after talks with Chou En-lai, it is evident that there is a good deal of discussion about how to make peace, though little of it is being disclosed to the public.

Henry Kissinger will stay at least five days in China and will unquestionably bring back his view of the inside diplomacy. The belief here is that North Vietnam is suffering from the effects of the heavy U.S. bombings and wants to see this phase of the war reduced in intensity, if not stopped altogether. Also, the feeling is that the Soviet Union and China are trying earnestly to get the negotiations in Paris underway again.

Moscow and Peking are anxious to arrange a cessation of the war for their own reasons, and President Nixon obviously seeks a termination of the conflict before the elections take place in this country. The entire situation lends itself to a negotiation in which a cease-fire will be declared and a disinterested tribunal will be set up to supervise the operations so that American prisoners of war can be released.

It is conceivable that an agreement which would provide for a termination of the war by the close of 1972 could be reached before the November elections in the United States. The American people would be reassured if they could receive the declarations of both China and the Soviet Union that they would support the pledges of both sides to maintain a cease-fire for the four months needed to withdraw all our troops and for a subsequent period while a new election is held in South Vietnam to determine that country's own form of government.

Progress at last seems to be on the way, and the chances of ending the Vietnam war were never brighter than they are today. The governments at Peking and Moscow, as well as Washington, are eager to see not only the bombings discontinued and the fighting stopped but peace restored to the whole of Indo-China. Its population has suffered great losses. The entire area now needs a halt to the fighting and a beginning of reconstruction with a humanitarian hand from the rest of the world to millions of helpless people.

The Great Unwashed at Miami

San Diego's headache is Miami Beach's fractured skull. Both national conventions will be held on the most expensive sandbar in the world. The Democrats and Republicans are so cordial that they are splitting the cost of the lumber to build podiums and box seats.

Miami Beach stands to gain millions of dollars in summer business. Wonderful, isn't it? No, it isn't. The Miami Beach Council, a pie-throwing group from the silent movies, is terrified over what greed hath wrought. After romancing both conventions successfully, the M.B.C. remembers what happened in Mayor Richard Daley's Chicago in 1968. Some of the august members see fire, riots and hippies and narcs outside convention hall. The council wants the business, but they don't want anyone else to give it to them. So far, eight groups of hippies, yuppies and gays have sent emissaries crying "Peace" and asking for parks and playgrounds in which to sleep throughout the six weeks.

The Gay group (homosexuals) has demanded their own park because, it is assumed, they might be attacked by the others. If medical aid is required, the Gay group insists on being treated by Gay doctors. Everyone is as happy as a guy whose face is on the wrong end of a gun. Miami Beach police are taking special courses in how to handle people. Governor Reuben Askew has promised that National Guard battalions will be alerted and ready. So will State Troopers and Federal agents. As it stands, Miami Beach may have more law than lawless.

Day by day, it is becoming a fortress. Accessibility is by several causeways from the glistening metropolis of Miami. These can be shut off like a garden hose. On the Miami side, civic and police officials are taking steps to insure that the "beards" start no riots on Flagler Street.

The Beach is blessed with a handsome white-haired mayor with the unlikely name of Chuck Hall. It was Mayor Hall who, after securing the Democratic convention, went chasing after the GOP when San Diego lost it. Ordinarily, Mayor Hall uses a Rolls-Royce to chase traffic malefactors. This time he offered a cash incentive.

The Miami Beach Council argued so heatedly over the matter of hippies and riots that, instead of offering the G.O.P. a quarter of a million to come to the beach and spend $5,000,000, the offer was withdrawn, revoked, and the Republican party was forced to stand outside, humiliated, hoping to be invited.

Many Americans think of Miami Beach as a billion-dollar picket fence of hotels. There is another Miami Beach. South of 20th Street are the old and the poor. They average 65 years of age, supported by small pension checks, or by grown children who live in the North.

They vote. They can't see a dollar in either convention and do not want them. They totter on sidewalks with their arthritis, bad hearts, and old memories. They do not want to be bowled over by beards. As one told me: "It's going to be a long hot summer." I don't see it that way. I will not attend either convention because I have listened to enough seconding speeches from coast to coast. Demonstrations will be few and peaceable because, in panic, the Beach council just passed an ordinance with a $1,000 fine and jail for anyone parading without a permit.

The council is akin to an argument on a tenement house fire escape. They may be the only group which can start a fight over the subject of fighting. The super-sane man would appear to be the chief of police, a 270-pound Brooklyn boy with the unlikely name of Rocky Pomerantz. He has been meeting with hippie representatives for weeks. He tells them where they can stay, how they can protest, and under what circumstances they can be tossed into the calaboose.

The kids like the chief. He levels with them. Meanwhile, the chief judge of Dade County has suspended all pending trials so that magistrates may hear cases involving the unwashed delegates at Miami Beach.

Some judges will be available around the clock. The three T.V. networks will be disappointed if there are no riots because they have assigned expensive cameras to patrol Collins Avenue on nights when the convention speeches become stuffy. Prisoners in the local jails may have to wait a long time for a speedy trial.

Nothing has happened. All is quiet on the Beach. The biggest blast so far came from Mrs. Gary Walz of Ann Arbor, Michigan. She's a delegate and she says the Michigan group will not sleep at the Playboy Plaza because there might be bunnies in the lobby.

And yet, hysteria mounts up and down Miami Beach. If some of the old and lame become angry enough, they may beat the marching hippies with their canes. Reminds me of the bride who wants the diamond necklace, but can't stand the groom.

Budget Screening Produces $34,000 ...Three More Teachers for Rondout

By JON POWERS

KYSERIKE Rondout Valley Superintendent Robert Robertaccio came up with an extra $34,000 after screening the 1972-73 budget, and then told the Board of Education Tuesday night that the district can now afford to rehire three teachers.

That apparently paves the way for ratification of the 1972-73 contract by the Rondout Valley Teachers Association. Association President Peter W. Hengstenberg said today, "It's great that they found the money. Our problems could be solved."

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1972
Sun rises at 5:20 a. m.; sun sets at 8:35 p. m., E.D.T.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 60 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 78 degrees.

Weather Forecast

Catskill Region:
Upper Hudson Valley:
Lower Hudson Valley:
Cloudy through tomorrow with periods of rain developing today and continuing into tomorrow. Rain may be heavy at times this afternoon and tonight with some localized flooding before tapering off tomorrow. A chance also of an occasional thunderstorm. Highs both days in the middle to upper 70s. Lows tonight in the middle to upper 60s. South to southwest winds at 8 to 20 miles per hour through tonight, becoming north at 10 to 20 tomorrow.

Hengstenberg said a ratification vote will be taken by Thursday afternoon.

After the Board of Education and the Teachers Association reached tentative agreement on the new contract, the board announced that it would be forced to eliminate three teaching positions in order to afford the terms of the agreement. The Teachers Association warned that such a move could jeopardize the tentative accord.

At the June 13 board meeting, after ratifying the contract, the Board of Education directed Robertaccio to restudy the district budget to determine if the district could afford to rehire the three teachers.

By reducing expenditures in 19 separate categories, Robertaccio came up with $34,494.50, enough to pay for the three teaching positions. Money was also raised by transferring one teacher to a federally funded program.

The Teachers Association will meet today, and results of the expected ratification vote should be tabulated by Thursday afternoon.

The board also covered a number of diverse topics at its final regular session of the year.

A number of bids were approved by the board at Tuesday's meeting, including several for bread; fuel oil and coal; office, art and instructional supplies, and tubes and tires for district vehicles.

The board approved the purchase of a delivery van to transport food between buildings. Seventy-five per cent of the cost will be paid for by the state; the district's cafeteria department will pay the remainder. The purchase of a new business machine for the business office was also approved.

All district transportation contracts for 1971-72 were extended for another year.

Personnel action occupied a large part of the agenda of Tuesday's meeting. Additional appointments were made to the summer Migrant Education Program, which will be conducted at the Middle School. Miss Sharon Elston, Miss Cynthia Raymond and Miss Kathleen Schoonmaker were appointed teacher's aides; Mrs. Anna S. Kolodziejski was appointed cook and Mrs. Sandra Schirmer was appointed educational consultant for the day care center that will be located at Stone Ridge. The center will be available to preschool migrant children. Older migrant children may attend the regular classes at the Middle School, designed to prepare them for entrance to the school district in the fall. The program is federally funded.

In other appointments, Donald Crispell was appointed to a high school science position; Miss Nancy Haener to a third grade teaching post at the Rosendale school; John M. Haeselin to a high school Health post; Mrs. Agatha Kerr to a part-time fourth grade position at the Accord school.

The resignation of Croswell Sheeley, principal of the Kerhonkson School, was accepted with regret effective June 30. The retirement of Mrs. Alva Bareika, a high school Latin teacher, was also accepted with regret, effective June 30.

PLANNING FOR SUMMER CAMP — Kingston YMCA Day Camp staff meets to make plans for the summer program. They are (L-R) Judith Lipgar, midge unit leader; Keith P. Christian, waterfront director; Leon I. Relations Commission Requests Perennial Meeting

KINGSTON The Kingston Human Relations Commission has written Federal Housing Authority officials in Albany requesting a meeting on the subject of Perennial Homes in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project.

The Rev. John H. Gilmore, director of the commission, said FHA was contacted on June 14, after the federal agency notified Charles Carlton of 21 Maple Street that there was basically nothing FHA could do to help him with housing defects except to refuse to do any further business with the contractor. FHA said that the contractor, Gerald Marqusee of Long Island, has refused to make repairs which FHA said he is responsible for.

"If we can't even get this meeting with them," the Rev. Mr. Gilmore said, "then our next step will be the banks. Maybe we can work something out with them."

Street. The mortgages are held by Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

On another housing matter, Human Relations Commission the Rev. Mr. Gilmore announced today that the target date for occupancy of 67 units of the UDC housing in Broadway East is still holding firm as of November of this year.

6.1 Per Cent of Work Force Unemployed During May

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A Labor Department reported Tuesday that the total represented a decrease of two tenths of one per cent from the April figure. Industrial Commissioner Louis L. Levine said employment during May was 7,765,000 — about 80,000 more than in April but down 100,000 from a year ago.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened slightly higher today, continuing Tuesday's upswing.

Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by a solid margin.

As the market opened, the government reported that the cost of living in May showed its largest over-all rise in three months.

Opening Big Board prices included Standard Oil of California, up 1/4 to 62; American Telephone, off 1/4 to 42 1/4; Fannie Mae, off 1/4 to 20 3/4; Comsat, up 1/4 to 62; and Fairchild Camera, up 1/4 to 37 1/4.

Ulster Avenue Widening To Be Checked

TOWN OF ULSTER

Officials of the Ulster Businessmen's Association are making plans to go to Albany to confer with Department of Transportation officials about the possibility of widening Ulster Avenue Mall to four lanes.

Joseph Cornelske, UBA president, Louis Gruberg, treasurer, and directors Bernie Singer and Louis DiDonna are expected to present their group's plea to DOT officials as soon as a conference can be arranged.

UBA has been trying for some time to get Ulster Avenue Mall widened to four undivided lanes to relieve serious traffic congestion there during business hours.

The group also expects to contact Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. and the New York Telephone Company about having utility lines along the Mall put underground.

Cornelske announced that the Northeast Rod Run, a competitive showing of custom and classic cars, would be held September 22 through 24 at a location to be announced later.

The group noted receipt of a letter from George Williams, a Ulster County Community College graduate, thanking UBA for the scholarship award that he will use to continue his education at a four-year college.

Four Indicted In Raceway Case

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Four men were indicted by a Sullivan County grand jury Tuesday on charges of sports bribery and conspiracy third degree in an alleged attempt to "fix" a May 11 race at Monticello Raceway.

Those charged were Steven Block, 25, of Queens; Harold R. Gillis, 25, of North Sydney, Nova Scotia; Thomas Garafano, 24, of Elmsford, and Stanley L. Stein, 36, of the Bronx.

The four allegedly offered $500 to driver Robert Samson, 23, to finish no better than fifth in the "superfreak" ninth race at Monticello May 11.

Samson, who won that race, alerted police and five men, including Donald R. Brainard, 40, of Brooklyn, were arrested that night.

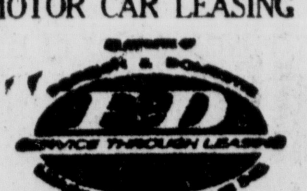

No charges were made against Brainard by the grand jury.

Detectives Investigating Reported $1,600 Burglary

KINGSTON — The wave of burglaries in this city and other communities in Ulster County continued overnight according to authorities who reported break-ins at three uptown business places and a residence in Ulster Park.

Kingston detectives investigated an apparent overnight burglary at the Roland A. Augustine Inc., insurance offices at 255 Wall Street, where a partial inventory showed a stereo tape deck and an AM-FM radio and speaker were allegedly stolen. The articles were valued at $1,600, police said.

Entry was reportedly gained through a window on the Main Street side of the building. Another burglary was reported at Schneller's Market, 63 John Street. Entry was reportedly gained through a bathroom window. A bag containing $70 in cash was allegedly missing.

City detectives also investigated a burglary at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. service store at 115 North Front Street. A patrolman found a door on the Converse Street side of the building open and investigation disclosed merchandise had been tampered with.

An incomplete inventory showed that an 8-track stereo cartridge player valued at $103 wholesale, was missing. A lock on an aluminum door had been twisted off, police said.

Deputy Sheriff Terry Carle and Deputy Richard Peruse investigated a burglary reported at the Akins residence in Ulster Park. Entry was reportedly made through a front window.

Reported as stolen was a metal box containing $140 in cash and a diamond ring, value not noted.

Deputies also reported a burglary occurred at VanKleeck's Tire Service on Route 9W, Lake Katrine. The place was apparently entered by removing a cylinder from the lock of the office door.

Accepting Presidency at Cape Cod

Dr. Hall Leaving Dutchess College Post

POUGHKEEPSIE University of New York system. Dr. Hall and his wife, Betty Stark Hall, secretary-treasurer of Shared Educational Computer System, Inc., will relocate to Cape Cod with their two children Kristine Martha, a recent graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and Jay Charles, a sophomore at Yale University. Both children attended the Hyde Park public schools and are graduates of Roosevelt High School.

Dr. and Mrs. Hall came to Dutchess County from their home state of Michigan. Prior to assuming the presidency of Dutchess, Dr. Hall was executive assistant to the president at Ferris State College and was dean of its Collegiate Technical Division.

Both of the Halls have been active in local civic affairs. Mrs. Hall is a past president of the Children's Home in Poughkeepsie and a past member of the Hyde Park Board of Education.

Dr. Hall has been active with national, state, and local professional and civic organizations. He has served with Patterns for Progress; the Board of Directors of Vassar Brothers Hospital; the Dutchess County Council for Human Rights; and as first chairman of the board of Trustees of the Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Area.

Dr. Hall expressed his appreciation for the many kindnesses extended to him by the citizens of Dutchess County during the past 15 years, stating that his move to Massachusetts was decided upon to enlarge his own professional career and to relocate his family.

And he urged those associated with the college to be continually concerned with its support of the Board of Trustees in recent moves for a new academic building and new cafeteria building, which would allow the old dining area to be converted into a student lounge.

The Rev. William Doughty, pastor of the Rossville Methodist Church, will be the speaker. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Msgr. Robert E. Moore, pastor of St. Charles Borromeo Church in Gardiner. Graduation exercises will be held Saturday, June 24, on the high school athletic field, beginning at 6 p.m. In case of rain, the exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium at the same date and time. In line with the school's use of student speakers at graduation exercises, the seniors will be addressed by Thomas Masten, the class valedictorian, and Sally Poole, salutatorian. John Gardiner, high school principal, will present scholarship awards, after which Leonard Gansch, district principal, will present the class to Michael Lembo Jr., president of the Board of Education, who will award diplomas. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Walter Van Popering, pastor of the Walkkill Reformed Church. Honor graduates in addition to the valedictorian and salutatorian are Jayne Cancellieri, Andrew Domenech, Robert Faurete, Christine Gardiner, Francesca MacDowell, Peter MacMillan (a three year graduate), Joanne Stillwaggon and Judy Young.

Grossman's Celebration And Special Values

BRAINTREE, MASS. Grossman's is celebrating the grand opening of its 100th store, in Kingston-Plymouth, Mass., and the re-dedication of its Quincy, Mass., store, first in the lumber and building supply chain, by featuring 100 special values for the home, in every branch from Maine to Pennsylvania.

Speaking at ceremonies commemorating this milestone in the history of Grossman's, a division of Evans Products Company, Mike Grossman, president, said: "It seems particularly appropriate that our 100th store is located in Plymouth County where a small band of 'free spirits' laid down the principles that made it possible for us to grow from our own very humble beginnings in Quincy in 1896 into a chain, 100 strong. It is something that could only happen here, in America."

Adding to the colonial flavor of the 100th store grand opening was the presence of authentically garbed, bewigged town crier, Larry Clews, who heralded Grossman's traditional board cutting ceremony with hear ye, hear ye. On this occasion, a 17th century, two man, cross cut saw was used, courtesy of Plimoth Plantation where the saw is part of a "live" demonstration of lumberjacking in colonial times. At either end of the two-man saw were Chairmen of Selectmen Paul W. Sears of Plymouth and Charles L. Farrington Jr., of Kingston, who, according to Grossman, went through the board as professionally as if they did it every day.

In regard to changes that have occurred in the 76 years Grossman's has been in business, the president commented: "We've come a long way from the old-fashioned lumberyard and the small, combination store and office that sufficed as headquarters when our company was growing up, and our customers were mostly men. To us, free enterprise has always carried an obligation to try new ideas and make improvements so that each store is better than the last. Today, in bright, modern surroundings, men and women shop with equal ease, comfort, convenience and enjoyment for things that will improve their common bond of interest...the home."

Among the many special 100th store values now available at all Grossman's are wall paneling, ceiling and floor tile, doors and windows, carpeting, paint, plumbing, kitchen cabinets, bathroom ensembles, fencing and lawn and garden equipment.

A Grossman's store in the Kingston, N.Y., is located on Ulster Avenue Mall.

Summer School Slated

KINGSTON Registration for the Kingston Summer High School begins Monday, June 26, at 8:30 a.m. in the Kate Walton Field House for students in grades 10-12. Students in grades 7-9 will register there on Tuesday, June 27, at 8:30 a.m. and again at 1 p.m. A special registration for driver education only will be held in the high school auditorium at 8:30 a.m. on Friday, June 23, with preference to seniors and a learner's permit required. Local students registering late must present written approval from the home school principal stating the reason for late registration. Local students may not register on opening day, July 5th, and no registrations will be accepted after opening day.

William A. Scafidi, principal of the summer school, said it is designed to give students an opportunity to accelerate their high school programs, to repeat courses failed by students, and to provide an opportunity to enrich the student's educational background. Classes begin at 8 a.m. on July 5, when all students must report to the Kate Walton Field House for instructions. Classes will meet from 8 a.m. to 9:50 a.m. or from 10:05 a.m. until 11:55 a.m. except for advanced subjects in which one unit of credit is given, which will meet from 8 a.m. until 11:55 a.m. Students residing in the Kingston City School District Consolidated must pay a $3 registration fee. Non-residents pay tuition fees of $60 for one-half credit subjects.

To be eligible to register for a course of study a local student may enroll if he has failed the subject or may take an advanced course if he has the approval and recommendation of his guidance counselor and the department chairman for the desired subject. A non-resident student must have written permission from the principal of the school he attends during the normal school year for either repeat or advanced courses. The principal's approval must contain the exact course or courses to be taken. In both school and regents' level courses students are allowed a maximum absence of three days from the 30 days classes will be in session. Advanced courses may be taken only with the approval and recommendation of the guidance counselor and subject supervisor. School examinations and Regents' examinations will be given on August 16 and 17. For a list of courses available (subject to sufficient enrollment and obtaining a teacher for the subject) and additional information contact Scafidi at the high school.

Sinatra Abhors Controversy

EDITORS' NOTE: This is the second of three articles examining the riddle of Frank Sinatra as a congressional crime probe seeks him for questioning.

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra would be a controversial figure on a deserted island off Cape Horn.

He abhors controversy and to that end has isolated himself as much as possible in Palm Springs, Calif., in a compound on the Tamarisk Country Club.

His acreage runs almost the entire length of the 17th hole of that establishment—a long par 4.

Within the compound is Sinatra's home, several guest cottages, servants' quarters, the presidential wing which was added for JFK but never used, a swimming pool and tennis court, around which Sinatra sometimes jogs.

He purchased the house next door for his mother, Dolly Sinatra, who was until a few years ago a Democratic party functionary in his native New Jersey.

There are gates and guards to discourage the curious from invading this desert sanctuary. Nancy Sinatra, his first wife, continues to live in a Bel Air mansion, well cared for by her ex-husband. She, along with Sinatra's three children—Nancy Jr., Frank Jr. and Tina—are not infrequent visitors to the complex at Tamarisk.

Sinatra is 56 years old now. The sobriquet, "the thin singer," no longer applies. He has added girth. He is sensitive about his thinning hair and rarely is seen without a golf cap or with divots (small hair pieces) to camouflage the bald spots.

The former movie star, television personality, recording artist and nightclub entertainer, according to friends, is enjoying his retirement. He plays golf two or three times a week, but devotes much of his time at home entertaining a few close friends and reading voluminously.

One of his closest associates is Jilly Rizzo, onetime New York Restaurateur.

Sinatra has backed Jilly, who has sometimes been described as a bodyguard, in the restaurant business in Palm Springs.

Sinatra has become an active member on the desert community, helping raise money for a variety of civic projects, not the least of which is the Martin Anthony Sinatra Medical Education Center, in memory of his late and beloved father.

This Sinatra is a different man from the days of his so-called "rat pack." Dean Martin is no longer a close friend. He does not speak to Peter Lawford. Sammy Davis is an infrequent visitor. Joey Bishop is not his pal.

Like The Godfather in the book he despised, Sinatra is more than ever concerned with his family, past and present. In addition to Nancy and his children, Sinatra has quietly done what he can to help ex-wife Ava Gardner's career.

The exception is Mia Farrow, his third and most recent wife. That generation-gap marriage left Sinatra alone and confused. He doesn't speak of her. Nor does anyone else in his presence.

Yet Sinatra's loyalty cannot be underestimated. An old friend down on his luck can expect a generous loan with no expectation of repayment. He has sent one of his two private jets winging to bring a desperately ill child to a hospital.

His donations to worthy causes are generous beyond belief. Still, he flies into outrageous temper when his good deeds are brought to light. The same loyalty Sinatra shows former wives and old associates has brought him trouble with the government. The House Crime Committee wants to question him now about his ownership in Massachusetts' Berkshire Downs race track, since closed. The committee is interested in whether co-owners of the race track were involved with Sinatra in other ventures.

Those co-owners were Mafia bigwigs Raymond Patriarca and Gaetano "Three Finger Brown" Luchese, late boss of a New York Mafia family.

Coincidence? As for the current investigation by the Crime Committee and past inquiries into Sinatra's underground connections, the singer told me not too long ago, "Remarks attributed to me relative to the mob... they're strictly out of a comic strip."

But less than two years ago Sheriff Frank Lamb said, "If Sinatra comes back to Las Vegas, he's coming downtown to get a work card, and if he gives me any trouble he's going to jail. He's through picking on little people in this town."

A Sinatra spokesman and friend in Hollywood said, "You must remember Sheriff Lamb was running for re-election at the time. Is Representative Pepper (of the House Crime Commission) up for re-election this year?"

Yes, Representative Pepper is running for election from Florida's 11th District.

(Next: Why Does Frankie Run?)

FAMILY CONCERN — Like the "Godfather" in the book he despised, Frank Sinatra is more than ever concerned with his family... past and present. In recent months he has lead a somewhat isolated existence in his compound on the Tamarisk Country Club in Palm Springs, Calif., but his first wife and three children are not infrequent visitors to the complex. In this photo, he and his family are all together for the opening of daughter Nancy's engagement at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. From left are: Sinatra the elder; daughter Nancy Jr.; former wife Nancy Sr.; daughter Tina, and son Frank Jr. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Grandfather, 67, Is the Head of Honolulu Community College

HONOLULU (UPI) — Eugene Yap became student body president on a platform of "fun, frolic and fellowship together."

Yap doesn't "worry about that generation gap stuff" and admits he's "having a ball."

The newly elected president at Honolulu Community College is a 67-year-old grandfather. Although older than the college provost he confronts with campus problems, greying hair hasn't stopped Yap from keeping up with long-haired youth.

He beat two young candidates for the school presidency and is convinced the retirement years can be a "new beginning," particularly for the elderly who return to school.

"Everything now is on a fast pace," he said. "This world is changing, not staying the same. I'm here to learn to prepare for the new world."

"Going back to school has made me feel young," Yap tried retirement and found he was "vegetating."

"One day my daughter said, 'Instead of sitting at home, watching TV, why don't you go finish up what you should have done in the first place?'"

Working since his high school days, the quiet-spoken man of Chinese ancestry spent 40 years in accounting and billing departments and put his two daughters and son through college.

"But I had a real yearning to finish things off for myself, to learn about the liberal arts, history and literature," Yap said in an interview.

Two years ago he started at Honolulu Community College and has been on the dean's list every semester. The president of the student body spotted Yap's record, noting years of experience as a public accountant, and asked him to serve on the student senate.

"The second year I was elected treasurer," he said, "but the real surprise came when I was nominated for student body president."

The college's oldest student took his nomination seriously and worked out a platform he felt was particularly relevant for a two-year city school with a commuting student body of more than 5,000. Instead of stressing school politics, Yap proposed the students rally behind the platform, "fun, frolic and fellowship together."

Ex-Israeli Pilot Becomes a Private Peace Promoter

SUEZ CANAL (UPI)—Five years after their lightning spearhead to the Suez Canal in the June, 1967, Six-Day War, the Israeli soldiers who man the front line of blockhouses bat away flies one moment and complain of boredom the next. "The most exciting thing that could happen here is for us to leave this place," Lt. Doron said at the Firdan bridge, reflecting the feeling of his buddies toward the drudgery of being a trooper in a no-war, no-peace predicament.

Considering that the government has poured at least $200 million into the east bank of the Canal and the Sinai peninsula to protect the men and hold the line, their departure is unlikely to be soon in coming.

To compare what the Israelis found when they arrived on June 8, 1967, with the water's edge today is to compare a Bedouin tent with a Crusader castle.

Great structures of steel, concrete, stone, sandbags and even Egyptian railroad ties have been nestled into a ridge of sand the full length of the 102-mile Canal, the cost of each position being in the five-figure category.

Barbed wire so thick you can't see through it guards the approaches.

Inside the soldiers live a submarine-like existence, with movies ("Boom" with Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor was a recent one), hot and cold running water, telephone links with home and even air conditioning when the summer sun becomes unbearable.

American Jews are brought by the United Jewish Appeal to see the forts their money helped construct. They are gone, however, when the men begin their basketball and soccer games in the coolness of the evening.

On the outside of the bunkers have appeared the inevitable signs of idle hands—wooden posters reading "Make Love, not War" and "Don't Die for Your Country... Let the Man on the Other Side Die For His."

"The biggest problem here are the flies during the day and the mosquitoes at night," said a young soldier at Kantara, where some Arabic-speaking troops strike up daily conversations with Egyptian soldiers 150 yards across the water.

"We have friends over there who we've gotten to know," he told a visitor. "They call us friend, too. This afternoon, they'll ask us who you were."

It's a sort of peaceful coexistence communication across the Canal that began long ago.

Saugerties News

Driving Course Offered

SAUGERTIES
A new three-hour safe driving practices course is now offered from 6 to 9 p. m., in the Saugerties Senior High School. Those planning to attend, who have not already done so, should make reservations at the Administration Building, Hill Street.

A small fee will be charged and it is required that all participants have a learner's permit when they report to the class session.

The three-hour safe driving practices instruction is now required of all persons before a road test will be administered.

Driver education may be offered on a tuition basis by Saugerties High School this summer to accommodate students who will not be able to take the course next school year or prefer to take it before school opens. Because of the heavy registration for driver education for the school year 1972-1973, many students who wish to take the course will be unable to do so because of insufficient staff.

Under the priority system to be followed, seniors will be accommodated first, juniors next, and then sophomores if there is any room.

Present indications are that no sophomores at all can take driver education and that many juniors will have to wait until second semester. For further information contact the guidance department.

Dems Amend Laws

SAUGERTIES
Larry Thornton, president of Saugerties Democratic Club, presided at a recent meeting at which it was unanimously decided to amend the by-laws to read, starting immediately, that club meetings will be held 12 months of the year, as opposed to the former summer recess of July and August.

William Marchetti, chairman of the recent spring dinner-dance reports the gala event was a complete social and financial success.

Mrs. Maurice Hinchey Jr. will again plan the float for the club's participation in the July 4 parade in the village, assisted by a staff of volunteers.

Paul Brazier will chair the annual picnic at the Asbury Picnic Grounds on Sunday Aug. 27.

The June meeting will be a "covered dish" dinner starting at 7 p. m. at Lynch's Marina on Ferry St., in the village. All interested voters wishing to attend may contact Mrs. Robert Gardner or Mrs. Milton Sommers. The membership will be contacted by phone.

Jaycee Awards Given

SAUGERTIES
Cliff Harris was awarded Saugerties "Jaycee of the Year" during an installation and awards banquet held recently.

The award is presented to the member excelling in all areas of Jaycee activity throughout the year.

Other awards presented included: Bob Brandt, Key man award as outstanding board member; Barry Van Steenburg, "Spokesman of the Year"; and Bob Martin, a presidential citation.

New officers installed at the meeting were: Bill Warner, president; Bob Kaspshak, internal vice-president; Barry Van Steenburg, external vice-president; Peter Grose, secretary; Howard Leach, treasurer; and Lloyd Lillard and Walt Gustafson, local directors.

John Lawrence served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Bulletin Board Is Presented

SAUGERTIES
The Barclay Heights Homeowners' Civic Association recently presented the Town of Saugerties with an employment notice bulletin board.

The board will hang in the town hall for use by village and town residents who wish to post local employment opportunities.

The presentation was made to Town Supervisor, A. Michael Schovel, by Howard H. Leach, president of the Association.

ORDER FOR SERVICE OF SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION

Upon reading and filing the Summons and Complaint in this action, the said Complaint showing the cause of action specified in Subdivision I, of Section 314 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules, in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for the County of Ulster, and upon the affidavit of the plaintiff, sworn to the 18th day of May, 1972, the affidavit of Charles E. Murtagh, the Sheriff of the County of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania, dated the 8th day of May, 1972, by which the plaintiff has made proof to my satisfaction that the said defendant cannot be served by another prescribed method of service, with due diligence, and mailing having been dispensed with.

NOW, on motion of Joseph Avis, Esq., attorney for the plaintiff, it is ORDERED, that the service of the Summons in the above-entitled action upon the said Bertha SiPOS, be made by publication thereof, in accordance with Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules in one newspaper in the English language, viz: The Daily Freeman, published in the City of Kingston, State of New York, hereby designated as being most likely to give notice to said defendant once a week for three consecutive weeks, together with a notice to the defendant, and a brief statement of the object of the action and it is further ORDERED, that the Summons, Complaint, Order and papers upon which this Order is granted be filed with the Clerk of the County of Ulster, and that first publication be made within twenty (20) days after the date of this Order, and it is further ORDERED, that Subdivision B of Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules be dispensed with since it has been shown to my satisfaction that the whereabouts of the defendant have not been ascertained by the plaintiff in spite of due diligence in that regard, so that the mailing of a copy of the Summons prior to the first day of publication would be fruitless, and of no force and effect.

LOVING MOTHER—Exhausted? You better believe it, Betty, a two-year-old Great Dane, is the center of attention for this 18-pup litter, and she thought the toughest part had ended. Betty's family includes nine males and nine females . . .

Dutchess Representative Scores Executive

RED HOOK
County representative Madison Sipperly Jr. (Rep. Dist. 1) today called County Executive William Bartles to task for his method of "paying off a political debt."

Sipperly said, "It is appalling that the County Executive has chosen to use the position of Summer Intern in his office to pay off a political debt."

"Mr. Bartles has appointed

Karl Schafer Jr. to the $1,000 summer job. Schafer, also known as 'Rusty', was head of the Youth for Bartles Committee during the last political campaign."

Sipperly asked how many young people Bartles had interviewed for the position. He had advertised the position, and whether he recruited through the Commissioner of Personnel.

"Wasn't there a single young man in Dutchess County more qualified than his former campaign worker?" he asked.

The Red Hook representative said that the Board of Representatives appropriated money for the position of Summer Intern in the County Executive's office to provide an educational opportunity for a young man as well as to have a bright student employed in a series of planned projects.

"If Mr. Bartles intends to use this position to pay his campaign debts I, for one, will vote to have it removed from next year's budget," stated Sipperly.

Ellenville Flood Control . . . Project Is Moving Well

By WADE BURKHART

Corps tries to maintain a balance between progress and Ellenville Federal funding, but . . .

The funding for the Ellenville Flood Control project is moving 90 per cent of the contractors along well in Congress, and the throw themselves away ahead project is moving along well in of schedule anyway."

The House Appropriations Committee approved the full $2.2 million requested to continue the project Monday. The money is contained in the bill for public works for fiscal year 1973 which is expected to be passed by the House by Thursday.

According to the project's Corps of Engineers representative, Thomas McDonnell, the project is already 50 per cent completed. And it has already proven its worth.

The first money appropriated for the project, which began work in June of 1971, was about $900,000. The project is expected to total $3.1 million, according to McDonnell.

Since only one-third of the money has been received by the contractor, Servidone Construction Corp., and 50 per cent of the work, according to McDonnell's estimate, has been completed, it means the contractor "has been working on his own money," said McDonnell.

"Flood control work lends itself to getting the obstacles out of the way, and giving protection as fast as possible," McDonnell said. He said the project has already proven itself in heavy rains," said the mayor.

The Corps of Engineers is trying to do more than just make gutters out of streams. McDonnell said the Corps had a full-scale beautification program planned for the flood streams suitable for fish. The Corps is quite conscious of the environment. "We want to give protection and also give some esthetic value to the area," he said.

The project, scheduled for completion in the Fall of 1973, involves about two miles of levee and dike work along the Ellenville village limits.

McDonnell said the Corps was working with the Fish and Wildlife Department of the Department of Environmental Conservation to make the streams suitable for fish. "The cooperation between local, state and Federal governments on this project has been just outstanding," said McDonnell.

"The people here have accepted the project," said McDonnell, "and nothing could make me more happy."

"It's great when people come up to me on the street after completion in the Fall of 1973, and say 'Thank you for the Corps of Engineers'."

Carney-Teetsel Nuptials Announced to The Freeman

Barbara Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carney of Saugerties, became the bride of Gregory Teetsel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teetsel of Saugerties, on Saturday, May 20 at St. John's M.E. Church, Malden-on-Hudson.

The Rev. Alfred Liberatore of Cold Springs officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Edward Terpening, organist, accompanied Roger Mickle who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Georgette crepe-over-taffeta gown in the A-line styling with a high neckline trimmed with Venice lace. The gown featured a detachable train. A Camelot cap held her three tiered silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with pink carnations. Christine Teetsel of Saugerties, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor in a mint green nylon-over-taffeta gown. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Attendants were Mrs. Bernard Ellsworth, cousin of the bridegroom, Malden-on-Hudson, and Mrs. Vincent Carney Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, Saugerties. They wore gowns of apricot nylon-over-taffeta with matching picture hats and carried bouquets of green chrysanthemums.

Miss Melinda Ellsworth, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl in a yellow nylon-over-taffeta gown. She wore a cluster of daisies in her hair and carried a basket of green, yellow, apricot chrysanthemums.

Arthur Russell of Saugerties was best man. Ushers were James Gage of Saugerties and Peter Carney, brother of the bride, Saugerties.

A reception for 100 guests was given at West Camp firehouse.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Saugerties Central School. She is employed by Saugerties Sportswear and he is employed by the Village of Saugerties.

When they return from their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, they will reside at 197 Partition Street, Saugerties.

La Leche League Meeting Scheduled Here Tuesday

Kington La Leche League will meet Tuesday, June 27, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gail Bernard, 158 Millers Lane, to discuss the topics, "The Art of Breastfeeding; Overcoming Difficulties". Mrs. Ruth Scogna, one of the two La Leche League International qualified Group Leaders for Kingston, will lead the informal talk which is the second of the League's series of four discussion groups.

If an art is defined as a "skill acquired by experience or study", then breastfeeding because it is "natural", does not mean it is instinctive — it must be learned. Two or three generations ago, it was not very difficult to find experienced relatives or friends to help the new mother learn this skill. But in the next generation, bottles were introduced and these bottle fed daughters were then left with few teachers to turn to if they chose to breastfeed. Fifteen years ago, La Leche League International was formed to fill this void. Today, all over the world in more than 1000 groups, women gather to share their personal breastfeeding experiences and practical tips. Medical advice is never given, although La Leche League International does include a medical advisory board of obstetricians and pediatricians who review all scientific information.

Mrs. Pan Usticke, the other Leaders, has announced that the second annual family picnic will be held Sunday, July 9, in Olivebridge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Stockwell. In case of rain, WGHQ will announce the cancellation. Any member wishing to attend who has not already been contacted, should call Mrs. Collette Wear of Woodstock, the chairman of the event.

Any interested woman is invited, as are nursing babies, to attend the Tuesday meeting. Mrs. Scogna and Mrs. Usticke may be reached for further information.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. SCHWENK of 85 Dunneman Avenue, Kingston, were guests of honor at a reception and dinner given in The Hedges, West Park for relatives and friends. The party was planned by their daughters, Sister Eileen and Mrs. Virginia (John) Lancer. The occasion marked their 50th wedding anniversary. Married June 17, 1922 in St. Bartholomew Church, Elmhurst L. I. they had been attended by Blanche Davis Halley of Rockville Center, L. I., and Bernard Rourke of Tuscon, Ariz. The Schwenks renewed their vows in St. Patrick's Cathedral on January 16, 1972. Cardinal Terrence Cooke presided. Mr. Schwenk is a former Mayor of the City of Kingston and a retired employee of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

You may not rank pets high on the list as consumers of protein-rich foods and other feed-stuffs. After all, many people recall the days when the family dog or cat lived off the largess of table scraps.

But today's family buys pet food along with its own food, choosing from over one hundred items stocked at food stores and promoted vigorously, says Louis K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

Pet foods account for around two percent of the total of all feeds available to livestock and poultry and from five to eight percent of the protein-rich feed ingredients (those containing 20 per cent or more protein). Pet food consumption nearly doubled in the period from 1958 to 1969.

Present trends suggest that the fast rise in pet food sales will continue. This will create further competition for feed concentrates between livestock and pets.

Milk and dairy products — The flush production season for milk comes in the spring with output reaching a peak in May and June. Milk production has been running slightly higher than the same month of a previous year for some time. The production gain in March was the largest for a single month in eight years. Though the increases are modest, they do indicate ample supplies of milk this spring. Manufactured dairy product output is also at a high level. Wholesale prices for some items, such as cheese and nonfat dry milk, have declined slightly. Retail prices for selected dairy products may ease off slightly. Most will be no higher than last year.

Fruit and vegetables — Fresh vegetables reasonable in price include cabbage, spinach and other greens, medium-size onions, old round white potatoes, summer squash, and asparagus. Among fruits, consider grapefruit, oranges, pineapple and strawberries. The best value in apples is the small McIntosh sold in plastic bags.

Plentiful foods — The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced Plentiful Foods for June as follows: milk and dairy products, split peas, broilers, and eggs.

It's Time to Celebrate Blueberry Season

tie with col cut: MAKE THE People have different ways of celebrating the onset of another fresh blueberry season. Some buy a dozen boxes of the big blues and, for the first few days, serve blueberry pancakes for breakfast, blueberry salad for lunch, and blueberry popovers for dinner. At coffee break they have blueberry streusel.

And the beautiful thing about it, people never tire of the blueberries. As a matter of fact, most of us never get quite enough while the fresh season is on.

So here's another way to mark fresh blueberry time. Make it party-time with Girl and Boy Cakes. The girl ones are white and fluffy; the boy cakes are golden and unadorned except for a strong dark patch on top.

Before the women's lib people get to us, there is a unisex feature to these Blueberry Cakes — the dough is virtually identical. Basically the same, the cakes are different in appearance. Just like people.

The blueberries make the cakes interesting. They lend flavor and insure a moistness that gives them longer keeping qualities. If you can keep them, that is. But, as grandmothers used to say, cake is not for keeping; it's for giving away.

Boy and Girl Blueberry Cakes

Boy Version
Three-quarter cup vegetable shortening
One and one-half cups sugar
Six egg yolks (large size eggs)
Three cups cake flour
Two teaspoons baking powder
One cup milk
One teaspoon vanilla
Three cups blueberries, rinsed and drained.

Girl Version
Same except six egg whites in place of six egg yolks. Cream shortening until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in sugar. Beat in egg yolks for the boy's cake or the egg whites for the girl's cake. Combine flour and baking powder and beat in dry ingredients alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients, fold in vanilla and blueberries. Spread batter evenly into a greased and floured 13 x nine x two inch pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 to 45 minutes. Cook cake in pan. Frost boy's cake with milk chocolate frosting and girl's cake with fluffy white frosting sprinkled with flaked coconut. Yield: One 13 x nine x two inch cake.

MAKE THE CHOCOLATE TOPPING for boys, the white and fluffy for girls, but make the cake beautiful with blueberries. For the sake of everybody.

Paltz Garden Club Plans Flower Show

New Paltz Garden Club will hold a Standard Flower Show, Celebrate Life, on Friday, June 30 from 2 to 9 p. m. and Saturday, July 1 from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Inter-County Savings Bank, 29 Main Street, New Paltz. Under the direction of Mrs. David R. Rosenbaum of Pine Bush, the show is arranged to include four main divisions and many sub-divisions. All amateur gardeners are encouraged to contribute to the show.

Horticulture Division which is open to the public includes collections, perennials, biennials, bulbs, arboreal specimens, shrubs and trees, potted plants, hanging baskets, fruits and vegetables, vines. Those wishing to enter should contact Mrs. LeRoy Nydegger, Mrs. John Edebohlis or Mrs. Robert Manganara, all of New Paltz, by Tuesday, June 27. All entries must have been grown by and in the possession of the exhibitor for at least three months prior to the show date.

Artistic Division offers two classes open to the public: "Bloom Where You're Planted" and "Go, Girl, Go." Anyone wishing to enter an artistic arrangement should contact Mrs. Sami Boulos or Mrs. Jed Reisner, both of New Paltz, before Friday, June 23. The artistic classes which include designs using mobiles, pedestals and set tables, are well worth a trip to the Flower Show. There is no admission charge.

Juniors are urged to participate in various classes according to age. They should contact Mrs. Edebohlis of New Paltz as soon as possible for instructions.

Doing the Right Thing

Since the majority of us do not have a blind person in our immediate family, we are often somewhat at a loss as to how to act when we do encounter someone who has lost his sight. If we are not prepared, we may either make the mistake of being too solicitous, or the equally unfortunate error of pretending that we don't notice the blindness at all. Should you be faced with the situation some day, the following quiz will help you in doing the right thing.

1. Q. Should one avoid using such words or phrases as "let me see," or "how did she look?" with a blind person?

A. Not at all. Talk to him just as you would to anyone else. He doesn't want you to feel that he is different, and you will find he will frequently use those words himself.

2. Q. When you see a blind man about to cross a street, should you take his arm to guide him across safely?

A. Possibly, but ask him first if he wants help. If he says "yes," ask him if he prefers to take your arm or if you guide him by the elbow.

3. Q. Is it all right to pay and play with a seeing-eye dog?

A. Not when he is on duty. Nothing should be allowed to distract him from caring for his blind master. When he is out of harness or turned loose, you may play with him, but only with his owner's permission.

4. Q. Is it wise to bring up the subject of a person's blindness, or is it better to ignore it?

A. If he brings it up, discuss it openly with him. Otherwise, you may assume that he prefers not to talk about it.

5. Q. If you go to a restaurant with a blind person, what should you do to help him?

A. Read him the menu, of course. You can also tell him where he will find the bread or the salt and pepper, placing them easily within his reach, as you do so. If the food is something specially served, such as crepes suzettes, describe the headwaiter's preparations. Ask the waiter to serve his food, and tell him how it is arranged on his plate or plates. If it seems necessary, offer to cut his meat, or bone his fish.

6. Q. What can you do to help a blind person who is in unfamiliar surroundings?

A. If you accompany a blind man to a place he is not accustomed to, tell him where the furniture is located. If you are attending a party with him, tell him who is present and where they are in the room. Stay with him until he is settled with a group of people to talk to him.

He Doesn't Believe in Frigid Women

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: "On the Verge" complained because his wife was "frigid." He described himself as "6 feet 2, well-built, head full of premature gray hair," etc. Then "Sleeping Alone in Virginia" came back with the perfect rebut. She said, "There are no cold women — only clumsy men."

I am a man in my middle 50s, and I am far from good looking. In fact, I'm a little heavy, not very tall, and you might even call me homely, but have been with plenty of women, and I have yet to find one that's frigid.

I am not saying this to brag, but once I was with a woman I had no trouble seeing her again. It's my opinion that if a woman is "frigid," it's because the man is selfish, impatient, inconsiderate or just plain stupid.

DOING ALL RIGHT
DEAR DOING: You are living proof of what I have always contended. The ear is the most important organ in love-making. If a woman hears the right things from her lover, almost everything else is incidental. And you certainly say the right things, Mister.

DEAR ABBY: In this morning's paper there was another story about a child who was lost in the mountains while camping with his family. Why does this tragedy have to occur every year?

I would like to pass on a suggestion which we have used in years gone by because we, too, were a camping family.

Each of us was equipped with a police whistle, which we wore around our necks. If one of us lost his direction or became separated from the others, he could just give a long toot to let us know where to look for him. Children being children, there was a lot of miscellaneous tooting at first, but after the novelty wore off, our whistles became as important to our camping trips as sleeping bags.

Hopefully others can benefit from this idea.

EX CAMPER
DEAR EX: I'm sure many campers are aware of the tool method, but it doesn't hurt to remind those who don't. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to handle a problem that really upsets me.

My husband (I'll call him Dick) is a wonderful person, but when we go to visit my parents he walks in the door, says "Hello," and then he sits down and doesn't say anything else the rest of the time we are there.

My poor father tries so hard to make conversation with Dick, but he can't get a word out of him.

Painting Exhibit

The "All Membership Show" at Woodstock Art Association, 28 Tinker Street, will close today at 6 p.m.

Paintings which were exhibited for the past two weeks included "Three" by Christie Medved; "Fantasy" by Geraldine Mark; "Two Magical Forms for Contemplation" by Norman Bacon; "Napalm Victim" by James Gilliland; "Forest Forms" by Georgina Klitzgaard; "Watkins Glen" by Gordon Howe.

Also, "Banking" by Michael Densen; "Interior Object" by Robert Quigley; "Stone Drawing" by Peter Sorenson; "Framework" by Jean Wrolsen; "I Long Incessantly for My Twin" by Kathleen Kenyon; "Performer at Rest" by Suzanne Seaver.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard of a new father passing out cigars to celebrate the birth of a baby, but what do you think of a grandmother passing out cigars for a new grandchild? This really happened. In fact, she has done it twice already. Is it proper?

Astros' Moves Paying Off

By UPI

The Houston Astros made two brilliant moves in the off-season and they both involved Lee May.

The first was obtaining May in a winter deal and the second one was moving in the Astrodome fences to give the slugger a better target.

"It makes a lot of difference," May says. "Psychologically, you know that if you hit the ball good, you've got a chance to get it out. Before, you really had to hit it for a homer."

May hit an opposite field fly ball Tuesday night that would have been a long out in the Astrodome last year but it went over the newly-constructed fence for a two-run homer that started a four-run rally in the fifth inning.

The result was a 7-4 Houston victory over the New York Mets that propelled the Astros into first place in the National League West. It moved the Astros one-half game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds, who lost to Montreal, 7-2.

Ironically, it was Cincinnati which traded May to Houston in an eight-player swap to obtain speedy second baseman Joe Morgan. The Reds still insist they're happy with the deal because of the speed Morgan adds to their lineup, but the Astros feel May has made them a pennant contender.

May has hit 11 homers this season (Morgan led the club with just 13 last season) and five have come at the Astrodome, including three over the new fence.

The Astros are seeking the first pennant in their history but May, who helped the Reds win in 1970, doesn't feel any pressure in a pennant fight.

"Maybe some of the players who've played on pennant contenders will help steady the team," May said. "The pressure doesn't bother me. I'm a streak hitter and if I'm hitting, it doesn't matter what position we're in." May has had five hits in his last eight at bats.

Houston held a 3-1 lead when Jim Wynn singled to open the fifth and May followed with his homer off loser Jim McAndrew. Buzz Capra relieved and a walk to Doug Rader, Tommy Helms' double and Roger Metzger's single made it 7-1 and it was a rout.

In the other two games, Chicago routed San Francisco, 15-8, and St. Louis edged San Diego, 5-4, in 11 innings. The Philadelphia at Atlanta and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh games were rained out.

Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly hit homers to power the Expos to their second straight victory over Cincinnati. Carl Morton, with late inning relief help from Joe Gilbert and Mike Marshall, picked up his third victory. Morgan homered for his eighth of the year and scored twice in the losing effort.

The Chicago-San Francisco score made it sound as if the clubs were playing football and both went for the two-point conversions. The Cubs scored seven runs in the first with Randy Hundley leading the way with a grand slam. They added five more in the fourth when Hundley drove in his fifth run. Ron Santo and Billy Williams also homered for the Cubs and Jim Hickman had four hits.

San Francisco, getting a three-run homer from Garry Maddox in the third, trailed just 7-6 before the Cubs got the five runs in the fourth. Chicago has won seven straight.

Poor fielding by San Diego cost the Padres the game against St. Louis. Two errors enabled the Cards to score a run in the seventh to take a 4-2 lead. Jerry Morales, who made one of the errors, then tied it 4-4 with a two-run homer in the eighth. But Derrel Thomas' error on Joe Torre's grounder in the 10th enabled Lou Brock to score the deciding run.

Sources close to the Suns said Colangelo had been trying to talk the Celtics into accepting someone other than Silas as payment for Scott.

Silas, 8, a 6-foot-7 forward, averaged 17.5 points and 12 rebounds a game last season.

Paul Silas To Celtics

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Silas, the rugged forward who helped turn the Phoenix Suns from big losers into consistent winners, has been traded to the Boston Celtics.

Suns general manager Jerry Colangelo said Tuesday the Suns were forced to trade Silas to Boston in exchange to National Basketball Association rights to Charlie Scott, the American Basketball Association's leading scorer last season.

General manager Red Auerbach of the Celtics said he would accept only Silas in exchange for the rights.

Scott, who played most of last season with the ABA Virginia Squires, suddenly signed with Phoenix during the closing weeks of the season. The Squires subsequently filed suit against the Suns in an attempt to get Scott back, but the two teams reached an out-of-court settlement last week which left Scott with the Suns.

However, Boston had first rights to Scott if he joined the NBA.

Sources close to the Suns said Colangelo had been trying to talk the Celtics into accepting someone other than Silas as payment for Scott.

Silas, 8, a 6-foot-7 forward, averaged 17.5 points and 12 rebounds a game last season.

Hull May Jump

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — The Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association hinted Tuesday that Chicago Black Hawks' superstar Bobby Hull is close to signing a contract with the club.

"We are telling newsmen to reserve Thursday and Monday," a spokesman for the Jets said. "Something could happen Thursday or Monday."

Asked if "something" meant the signing of Hull, the spokesman said, "You can interpret that any way you like."

Winnipeg has offered the "Golden Jet" a $2 million package to lure him away from the National Hockey League. It was reported also the deal involves giving Hull a 700-acre farm near Winnipeg.

Ben Hatskin, club president, was quoted by Winnipeg newspapers last week as saying he was searching for a 700-acre farm "and it isn't for me."

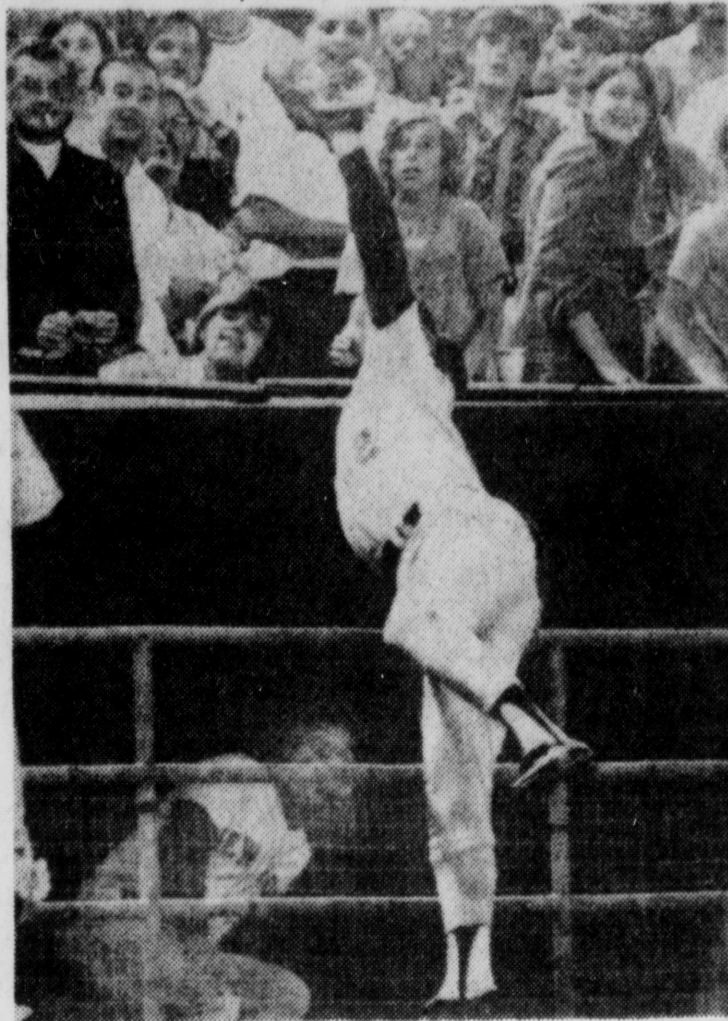

Garry Hull, the younger brother of Bobby and Dennis, has already inked a one-year contract with the Ottawa Nationals of the WHA.

Garry Hull, 28, played senior hockey in Millbrook, Ont., last year and averaged two goals per game.

Cleveland Lands WHA Franchise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland, a charter member of the American Hockey League since it was founded in 1936, has moved into the new World Hockey Association.

Cleveland sports promoter Nick Mileti announced Tuesday night that he had obtained a WHA franchise for the city. He said further details of the agreement would be announced at a 9 a.m. news conference today in his offices at Cleveland Arena.

Is Baseball Really Dying?

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

VISALIA, Calif. (UPI) — For Jack Hutchinson, this always is the best part of the day.

In the morning there are first dozens of routine chores to be done.

Like making travel arrangements, finding quarters for new players and straightening out concession and ticket receipts from the night before.

Now it is approaching early evening and Jack Hutchinson, the 26-year-old general manager of the Visalia Mets in the Class A California League, already has opened the park for tonight's ball game with the Reno Silver Sox.

Bright, clean-cut and good-looking enough to have made it in the movies had he not chosen baseball instead, Jack Hutchinson is the son of the late Fred Hutchinson, who used to pitch for Detroit before managing the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

Young Hutch looks like his father. He also sounds like him when he talks.

Like all good general managers in the minors, he does three things at once and that is what he is doing now: an hour before the game with Reno. Along with everything else, he also flicks on the TV set in his office so he can catch The Game of the Week as he works.

"Some people say baseball is dying, others say it's sick. What do you think?" I ask Jack Hutchinson.

Visalia's young GM thinks a minute. He looks at some papers on his desk, finds the one he wants and says:

"You can't say baseball is sick in this area. We won the California League title last year and this year we're fifth in the first half of the season but our attendance is running better right now than last year. We've drawn 19,734 for 29 home dates."

I don't think baseball is sick at all. I think it has to be aware of the other competitive factors within the sports and entertainment worlds. When my father was growing up, it was strictly baseball and little else. There weren't other siphoning factors like professional basketball, hockey and golf to distract baseball fans. Today things are different, but that doesn't mean baseball is sick.

As Hutchinson talked, one of the umpires entered the office and called out:

"I wanna put somebody on the pass list. Okay, Jack?"

"Okay," Hutchinson replied. He then went on with what he was talking about before.

"This is a city of about 30,000," he said. "I consider it a beautiful all-American type city. We're 180 miles northeast of Los Angeles and 200 miles from San Francisco and the television major league games, of course, cut into us, but I see no evidence of baseball being sick from any lack of interest here. The people keep coming out to the ball games. Even those who don't, continually talk baseball."

Further south, in Los Angeles, Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers agrees with Jack Hutchinson.

"Although I've heard it said baseball is dying, I doubt that," he says. "I look at the attendance figures and note the National League is up again. So many commentators overlook the fact baseball started out the number one sport, then football came along and now deserves a lot of credit for what it accomplished. Other sports also have made good strides. There's basketball and hockey and even soccer made a run at it for awhile. I notice horse racing has extended its season. All these sports are competing for spectator interest now."

"In our early days, we figured all we had to do was put a team on the field, open the gates and the public would come out," O'Malley goes on. "Well, in Brooklyn we saw things starting to slip a bit, problems developing with the neighborhood and parking, so we promoted. We had such things as 'Long Island Night' involving various Long Island communities like Amityville, Garden City, Hempstead and so on. I think baseball will be all right. Those clubs that promote efficiently and intelligently are doing well at the gate."

Two of the most active promotional departments in the majors are operated by the Mets and Dodgers. Significantly, perhaps, they are the ball clubs doing best at the gate.

From a player's point of view, Rusty Staub of the Mets feels baseball could be healthier if both the owners and the players would start "honoring each other's integrity."

"Problems should be solved amicably," he says. "I don't think differences between these two groups are any aid to the game. And in the context of helping baseball, I hope some players realize the greatest thing they can do for the game is to have more personal contact with the public, and not be aloof to kids and admirers."

Nobody does any better job at public relations than Staub, but sometimes even that can't help. Fans come up with any number of reasons for staying home.

Ann Pledger, a San Francisco housewife, is an example. She describes herself as "a rabid baseball fan," a Giants' fan, but says she doesn't go out to see them much anymore because they changed third basemen.

"I used to have a front row box right on the third base line," she says. "That was when Jimmy Davenport played third for the Giants. I enjoyed watching the games then, but then they got another third baseman, Jim Ray Hart. I got tired watching all the balls go by him. He never moved. They couldn't even give him an error because of that. I mean it. They kept sending him to Phoenix and bringing him back. That's when I stopped going out to the games. I think Horace Stoneham must like Jim Ray Hart. He keeps bringing him back all the time."

Lyle Does It Again

By UPI

Even on his "bad" days, Sparky Lyle is enough to give other members of the New York Yankees pitching staff a severe complex.

Lyle, an off season acquisition from Boston, has turned into the best deal the hard-luck Yankees have made in a number of years, and already has had a direct hand in 16 of the club's 25 victories this season.

"The Count" turned in his 14th save—two more than the entire Yankee staff registered in 1971—by coming to the aid of starter Mike Kekich in the seventh inning Tuesday night to protect a 4-2 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. It was the fifth consecutive victory for New York, which now trails Baltimore and Detroit by 5½ games in the American League East.

The Orioles climbed back into a tie for first place by beating the California Angels, 4-1, Tuesday night while the Tigers were dropping a 3-2 decision in 11 innings to the Oakland A's. Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins won a two-night double-header from the Cleveland Indians, 7-3, and 3-1, the Texas Rangers beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-2, and the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Chicago White Sox, 7-1.

In the National League, Houston beat the Mets, 7-4, Montreal beat Cincinnati, 7-2, the Cubs routed San Francisco, 15-8, and St. Louis edged San Diego, 5-4, in 11 innings. Philadelphia at Atlanta and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh were postponed by rain.

Kekich allowed Kansas City only one run on six hits before he was replaced by Lyle with two men on and two out in the seventh. Lyle retired Amos Otis to end the inning, and although he allowed a run in the eighth inning he snuffed out the Royals in the ninth.

"It wasn't one of my better nights," said Lyle. "You know you have luck going for you when you escape on a night like this."

Although stretching his record to 6-5, Kekich was upset about failing to finish a game for the 12th time this year.

"I don't want to be a long man who starts," he said. "One of the guys on our club said, 'Doesn't that guy ever finish a game.' That deflates your ego. They don't even turn off the bullpen car (the one that transports relief pitchers into the game). They just keep it going from the fifth inning on."

Bobby Murcer drove in three runs for New York with a homer and a sacrifice fly. Baltimore scored three runs in the seventh inning to break a

NFL Players Mount Charges at NLRB

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)

— Testimony continues today on charges by the National Football League Players Association that NFL owners have failed to bargain on player fines and artificial turf.

In opening testimony Tuesday, attorneys for the two sides clashed over the role of NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and a spokesman for the players accused owners of violating their contract with players by refusing to bargain on the two issues.

The hearings are being held by the Minneapolis office of the National Labor Relations Board. Trial examiner Melvin Wells of Washington, D.C., indicated testimony might continue through the week and said a judgment wasn't likely until late July.

In opening statements, NFL attorney Theodore Kheel said owners are willing to bargain on the issues but that Rozelle's status as final arbitrator has been agreed upon.

Eugene Keating, counsel for the players association, contended that the commissioner is not an impartial arbitrator.

That was echoed by Edward R. Garvey, director of the players association.

"I have never heard anything more ridiculous in my life," he told the trial examiner. The commissioner is the "agent" of the owners, he said, not an impartial arbitrator.

Garvey said the real issue is the scope of a four-year collective bargaining agreement in effect since Feb. 1, 1970.

Sauers-Ellis Team Wins Sykes Event

KINGSTON — Mrs. Richard Sauers of Wolferts Roost and Mrs. Herbert Ellis of Schuyler Meadows combined for low gross 40-37-77 over a long, heavy Wiltwyck Country Club course Tuesday to win the Northeastern Women's Golf Association Gail Sykes Two-Women Better Ball title. The winners finished with a two-stroke margin over the defending champions — Miss Sara Jane Stuhler of Antlers and Miss Ann Sadowski of Mechanicville — who carded 42-37-79 gross. Fifty teams competed in the annual classic. Because of sodden fairways, scores ran high. The Sauers-Ellis tandem also fired low net of 34-32-66 but under the rules low net honors were awarded to the Mohawk Golf Club tandem of Mrs. John Dutcher and Mrs. George Woods with 33-38-71. The Wiltwyck mother-daughter combination of Mrs. Werner Kolln and Nancy Kolln finished in a four-way tie for second low net at 36-36, despite 8's at two par-5 holes — the second and 12th.

Sharing the tie at net 72 were: Mrs. A. L. Sayles and Mrs. Francis Campbell of Edison Golf Club with 37-35; Mrs. Thomas Getty-Mrs. Phil Potts, Edison, 36-36; and Lynn Patty Kellam of Mohawk and Mrs. Harvey Kausel of Albany Country Club who teamed for 35-37-72.

One-Run Games In Slow Pitch

KINGSTON — The City Slow Pitch League returned to action Tuesday after a one-night hiatus due to rain and the players greeted the chance to play by coming up with several of the most exciting games of the season.

Three of the evening's contests were decided in the seventh inning. Edgar II scored twice in the top of the last frame to beat Schadrack's, 16-15; Boulevard Golf rallied for three in the bottom of the seventh to edge Carriage House, 4-3; and Lou's came up with an eight-run inning to beat Colonial Cash Register, 15-8.

Other B Division games had the Born Losers stopping Country Kitchen, 7-4; and Circle Cab nipping West Pierpont Market, 6-5.

Jim Whelan, Frank Benicase, and Steve Foster came up with two out singles to bring Edgar from a 15-14 deficit in the last inning. Whelan and Foster each had five hits in the game. Bud Wolf homered for the winners as did Al Chylstun and Chuck Hart for the losers.

Hits by Terry Wirth, John Watzka, and Kevin McGowan boosted Boulevard Gulf to its come from behind win. John Cook had homered earlier for the Carriage House.

Lou's Astro Subs trailed 8-7 going into the top of the seventh against Colonial Cash Register, but the big eight runs they scored in that frame changed

Non golfers as well as golf addicts will be amazed and amused when Hahn pulls out a weird assortment of crazy golf clubs from his 80-pound picture short subjects and in dramatic and TV westerns. Lions Club Golf Set SAUGERTIES — Response to the Saugerties Lions Club Invitational golf tournament scheduled for Thursday at the Sawyerkill Country Club promises that the annual affair will be a success as usual, publicity chairman William D. Brinnier, announced.

Tournament chairmen, Ken Harder and Hugo Knauert, report that the tournament could handle a few more entries, but reservations must be made at once through Harder.

Entry fee for the tournament is $20 which includes a continental breakfast, greens fees for the 18-hole tournament, lunch and beverages, a hole-in-one contest, a putting contest, various other sports activities and a banquet at which prizes are awarded.

Many prizes have been offered by Saugerties area merchants. In addition, there will be trophy prizes for the three top winners and the name of the low net shooter will be engraved on the Wellington Hunter Trophy.

All proceeds go to support the Lions Club Merit Scholarship Award of $100 over a four-year period in any accredited college awarded once each year to a Saugerties High School senior.

At the present time, there are four former Saugerties High School students benefiting from the Scholarship Award.

Transfer County Tourney To Rondout Golf Course

The Ulster County Amateur Golf Championship (Herdegen Memorial) resumes Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Wiltwyck Country Club, with the finals Sunday at Rondout Pool and Golf Club at Accord, instead of Sawyerkill Country Club at Saugerties as previously scheduled.

The switch from Sawyerkill to Rondout was necessitated because rebuilding of the No. 4 green at Sawyerkill has not progressed according to schedule. Tournament Director Charles J. Tiano announced.

"Because of the consistently poor weather, the new No. 4 green has not progressed as was expected," said the tournament director. "The Herdegen Committee regrets to have to make this move because it is fully aware of the tremendous effort by Dick Jackson, the Sawyerkill superintendent and his staff to make the green playable."

"However," he added, "the consistently poor weather and heavy rains set back the schedule to the point where it was impossible to make up for lost days, in spite of herculean work by Jackson."

The Rondout course is being used for the first time in the county championship. It is a challenging layout that will test the 31 survivors of the first 36 holes of the tournament.

All Herdegen finalists are reminded that practice rounds may be played this evening, Thursday and Friday.

Rondout Babe Ruth Reslates Twin Bill

The June 25th doubleheader scheduled for the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League has been postponed due to graduation exercises, and has been rescheduled for Sunday, July 2, at the usual time at the Rondout Valley High School field.

There will be two all star tournaments again this year. The tourney for 15-year-old boys will be played in Beacon on Wednesday, July 5, and the 13-year-old tournament will be held Sunday, July 23 in Poughkeepsie.

made for Tile III funds in the amount of $70,000 annually for the continuation of the present program in Kingston and its expansion to the other areas.

The present program which is carried on at two centers in Kingston, one at the YWCA and the other at the Kingston Recreation Center, downtown; operates on a $12,000 annual budget with UCCA paying 25 per cent of the local share.

Mrs. Davis, who was in Albany this week seeking the federal funds which are filtered through the state, said she was "encouraged" and hopes that if the funds are forthcoming that the new expanded program may be initiated this summer.

College Lists Bids

ATHENS Columbia-Greene Community College has advertised for bids for construction of a permanent campus at the Olana site in the town of Greenport in Columbia County.

Edward J. Owen, president, said that bids will be accepted until 3 p.m. on August 3, when they will be opened and read at the college. There will be five separate bids for general construction, electrical, heating and ventilating, plumbing, and science laboratory furniture.

The Columbia County Board of Supervisors and the Greene County Legislature have made application to the New York State Dormitory Authority for a state grant covering 50 per cent of construction costs, a move permitted under new laws enacted at the 1972 session of the State Legislature.

WHAT DOES SPRING BRING? — The end of their first school year for these young students at the Accord Cooperative Nursery School. Applications are now being accepted to next fall's session. Ready for the summertime break are (L-R) Mike Knudsen, Michelle Alter, Christopher Ebert, Connie Ryder and Todd Grant.

Outstanding Professors Are Named

NEW PALTZ Educators of America for 1972, sociology: Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, professor of philosophy; University College at New Paltz selected are Dr. Aaron Bindman, Dr. Natalie Marshall, professor of economics; Dr. Charlton Mabee, chairman of the department of history; and Dr. Burton Bernstein, professor of physics.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic services, and professional recognition. Nominations for the program are made by a college's administrators.

Fire officials reported a section of a picnic table also was burned along with other materials. Engine 2 firefighters quelled the blaze. The principal said the fire was started apparently by some of the pupils as a means of celebrating the closing of school.

Apprentices Sought in Ellenville Area

ALBANY The Electricians Joint Apprenticeship Committee, Local Union 806, Ellenville, is recruiting for six apprentices. State Industrial Commissioner Louis L. Levine said today. Applications — which will be available until May 14, 1973 — can be obtained at the office of Local Union 806, 97 Main Street, Ellenville.

Apprentice programs registered with the Department of Labor must meet standards established by the Industrial Commissioner. Under state law, sponsors of apprentice programs cannot discriminate against applicants on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex.

According to requirements of Local Union 806, an applicant must be 18 through 24 years of age (except for veterans who are eligible for an adjustment of up to four years); have a high school diploma; one year of high school algebra; take a physical examination at his own expense; and must take an aptitude test.

Further information can be obtained from the State Labor Department, Manpower Services Division, State Office Building Campus, Albany, N.Y. 12201.

Dean Named As Scholar

NEW PALTZ Dr. Douglas E. Baker, Dean of Students at the State University College at New Paltz, has been named a University Scholar at New York University's Founders Day Ceremony, held recently at NYU's Washington Square Campus.

The designation "University Scholar" is granted to honor scholars at NYU, in recognition of demonstrated academic proficiency in their major field of study.

Dr. Baker was awarded his Doctorate of Philosophy in science education at NYU last February.

He was appointed dean of student at New Paltz in September 1970. He holds a concurrent appointment as associate professor of biology at the college.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keeping occupied doing important work during day frees time for that recreation you want in p. m. with fine friends. Outline your plans for the future to them and gain their ideas, cooperation. Have fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You know early what your true aims are and how to go after them successfully now. Attend to those personal duties also. Show you have your feet on the ground and your lead where it should be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can rely on that good and influential friend for the assistance you need to get your cherished aims that seem difficult to you right now. Make sure you know just what it is you want, though. Think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Bringing your talents to the attention of bigwigs now gains you the support you want for your aims. Get busy handling that credit matter that has been bothering you. Avoid that person who wants to gossip all the time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can now plan that trip that means so much to you, so get busy early and make accommodations, etc. Show you are open-minded and you get along better with others. Forget that negative attitude of the past.

Monetary 'Expert' Views U.S. Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dis-closure that the new Soviet-American arms limitation agreement may bring about an increase in the U.S. defense budget has disquieted some members of Congress and nonplussed others.

"If this is what is meant by slowing down the arms race, let me off," said Rep. Thomas W. Rees, D-Calif., who was both disquieted and nonplussed.

It has been my observation that when perturbation and perplexity arise, it usually means somebody doesn't understand the situation.

In an effort to clarify the matter, I submitted a series of questions to Commodore Claus von Frigate (ret.), author of "The Fighting Dollar," one of the foremost textbooks on military economics.

His answers have helped straighten out my thinking and I hope they will do the same for you.

A. Not a bit. Cutbacks frequently lead to cost increases. It's an old military axiom that "less costs more, more or less."

Q. Can you cite another example of less costing more, more or less?

A. Certainly. In addition to the arms limitation agreement, the United States and the Soviet Union have signed a pact aimed at reducing environmental pollution. Having less pollution obviously is going to cost a lot more money. Nobody questions that. So why should anyone be disquieted to learn that arms control also costs more?

Q. Would you explain that a bit further?

A. Glad to. Just as production with pollution is cheaper than nonpolluting production, defense with arms is cheaper than unarmed defense. Consequently, arms limitation adds to the cost of defense. If we had to defend ourselves without arms, the defense budget would go right through the roof.

Q. Is that why international disarmament agreements are so difficult to negotiate?

A. Exactly. Most countries are either unable or unwilling to accept the additional expense.

Q. I take it, then, that total disarmament is completely out of the picture.

A. I'm afraid so. No country could afford it.

Q. Isn't there some way to reduce the spiraling cost of arms limitation?

A. Yes. We are trying to persuade our allies to assume a larger share of the weapons freeze.

KINGSTON PLAZA

Merchants' Group 'Helpful'

KINGSTON

The Kingston Plaza Merchant's Association was formed in 1968 primarily to "promote the plaza and to do the best they can to keep the plaza a modern and convenient and pleasant place to shop."

But the association has become more than that in the ensuing years as it has extended its activities to benefit civic and religious organizations.

The association contributes directly to various civic and church organizations but also sponsors an open flea market every June for those organizations with all funds going to them.

The association also runs Halloween contests for children and this year embarked on an Easter egg decorating contest. More than 2,000 prizes were given away at the Plaza's Eighth Anniversary celebration in April. And there are usually special "back to school" promotions for children toward the end of the summer.

The association has 29 members and is currently led by Al Werbalowsky of Al's Appliance. Chill Caruso of Plaza Barbershop was the first president in 1968, followed by Earl Reader of Norge Village in 1969, Paul Sullivan of Sears in 1970, and Joe Catania of Flahs last year.

Dennis Sorge of Walgreen's serves as vice president this year. The board of directors includes Sullivan, Ronald Phelps from Grand Union, John Konz from Sears, Don Kreiling from Flahs, Lillian Warrington from Banker's Trust and Nancy Edwards from Herzog's.

Plural Fashions . . . Just the Right Place'

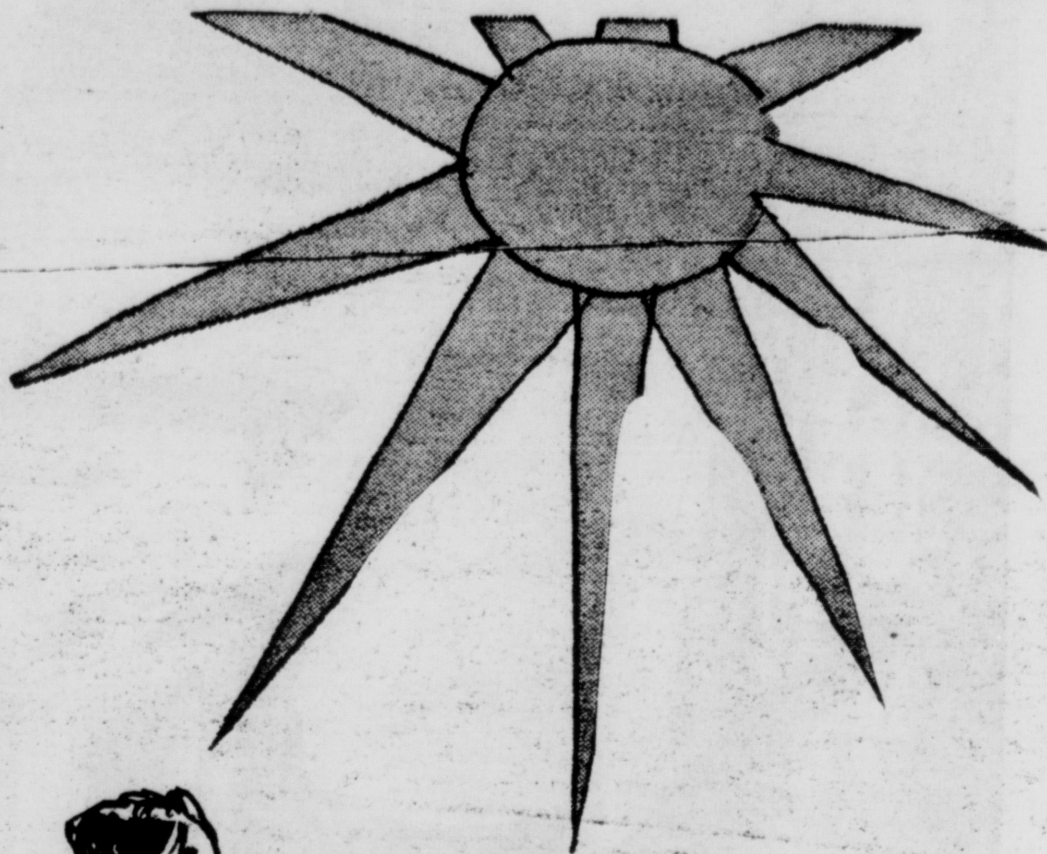

KINGSTON
Plural Fashions in the Kingston Plaza is perhaps best known for its complete collection of uniforms. But many women find it just the right place for house dresses, dusters, shifts, blouses, skirts and swimming suits. Owner Jack Swindler is featuring the Bob Evens Designer Series in the uniform department for the Anniversary sale. Usually priced from $13 to $18 each, they will be sale priced at only $10. Also, a seersucker jacket dress outfit, usually priced at $11.99 will be on sale for $10. Sizes range from 12 to 20 and from 14½ to 24½. The shop specializes in large sizes from size 38 to 52, "everything we carry is to size 52," Swindler says. There is an extensive collection of long dresses, sizes 40 to 46 with sweaters from size 42 to 52, shorts from 32 to 38 and 40 to 46 and pants suits up to size 52. BankAmericard is honored along with Master Charge and a lay-away plan is available.

Style Fabric...The Place to Go for 'Do It Yourselfer'

KINGSTON
Style Fabric in the Kingston Plaza has become increasingly the place to go for the "do it yourselfer" or for the woman who simply wants to create for herself a distinctly unique fashion.
The store is filled with materials of almost every imagination, double knits, velvets, sports cottons material for curtains, draperies, upholstery. Ribbons, buttons and bows and trimmings are also readily available, sold by an experienced staff.

"People are making a lot more things than they used to," a saleswoman told The Freeman. "They not only save a great deal of money over ready-made items, but we offer them a larger selection of fabrics."

For the first time, banlon fabric will be available for summer sewers. The Chinese influence "hasn't caught on that well" but brightly colored prints are nonetheless available for those who want to get in on the latest fashion trend.

Seeks Two-Way View Of 'Soul' Classics

DETROIT (AP) — James Frazier, the young black who was guest conductor of the Leningrad Philharmonic last fall, is trying to bring soul to the classics and the classics to his soul brothers and sisters.

Frazier is writing, "Twelfth Street, A Soul Musical."

"'West Side Story' was a landmark because it brought jazz, real jazz, to the stage. 'Hair' did the same thing with acid rock," he said.

"In my 'Twelfth Street,' I had to come to grips with a philosophical as well as a musical problem. I want to bring rhythm and blues and gospel music within the formal structure of a symphony. And, I'd like it to be a landmark."

Frazier, 32, who conducted the Detroit Symphony on Thursday for the first time since he got rave reviews in the Soviet press for his Leningrad appearance, said a Hollywood studio is interested in his musical and he will spend two months in California soon to work on it.

"Now jazz and rhythm and blues and gospel and rock aren't the same thing at all," the Detroit-ghetto-raised musician said. "But R and B and gospel do go together. What I'm trying to do is what other composers, such as Brahms, did. They took the folk songs and the music of their culture and put them in a formalized structure."

Frazier, who earned a degree in chemistry but changed his mind about going to medical school, conducted Italy's La Scala Opera after winning first place in the Guido Cantelli International Conductors' Competition. He conducted orchestras in Detroit, Indianapolis,

Los Angeles and Nashville, then was invited by the Soviet government to conduct at Leningrad. He was the youngest American and first black to conduct there.

Frazier said of his new work: "'Twelfth Street' is the story of the street people leading up to the (1967) Detroit riot. But it's also about black life in the ghetto. It has a message, and I hope it's entertaining."

"When a character is introduced in music, there is a leitmotiv, or a recurring theme that can be identified with that character. But I'm trying to make it a soul leitmotiv."

"Now when the pimp comes on it's sort of a ... dip da-da du-a op. When the nice girl comes on its lovey-dovey, but with a little sashay on the backbeat."

Frazier is also trying to move the young black community with the classics.

"There is a lot of interest in good music among youth, and in the black community, more than most people think."

"But they have to know what it is, what it says. And, we're dealing with a sophisticated audience. You can't con them and simply say, 'It's good for you to hear this.' They want to understand it."

Girl Off Her Rocker With All-Time Record

JACKSON, Tenn. (UPI)—The newest world record holder is a petite country girl in hot pants who rocked around the clock five times.

Susan Eliff, 18, set a new world rocking chair endurance record of 125 hours and 40 minutes Thursday afternoon, but she figures she had about reached her limit.

"I don't think I could have made it much longer," said the exhausted brunette. "I hadn't prepared to stay up all those nights."

"There were times when she got pretty groggy, but she snapped back," said Susan's sponsor, Bill York. "We had to let her sniff a jolt of spirits of ammonia shortly after midnight Wednesday when she started to nod."

"But she never took any pills."

Susan Starts Rocking

Susan started rocking at 9 a.m. CDT Saturday and creaked back and forth without sleep for five nights as 127 other local stalwarts dropped out of the contest.

Susan picked up over $800 in prizes from local merchants and eclipsed the old record of 125 hours set last year by Englishman Brite Edmunds. She'll go into the Guinness Book of World Records for the feat.

"I feel fine," she croaked groggily Thursday as she staggered out of the 96-year-old antique rocker supplied by a local furniture dealer at 2:40 p.m. and was whisked away to a clinic for a medical examination before heading home to bed.

Suffers from Heat

Susan, who was allowed to get up for only seven minutes every two hours to stretch her legs and go to the rest room during the marathon, was almost ready to call it quits Wednesday due to the heat.

But her fans rigged a tub of ice and an electric fan in front of her rocker on the porch of the Ole Country Store to bathe her with cool air.

Susan, who lives in the suburb of Malesus and will enter Union University here in the fall, munched fried catfish, steak, bacon and eggs, fresh fruit, toast and jelly and other goodies during her marathon rock.

Susan's last opponent gave up at 6:49 a.m. Thursday with a groan. "This is it," said Mrs. Gary Litterell, a 26-year-old housewife.
